Great Britain Still In Midst of Chaos

Laborites Denounce The Government In House of Commons—Efforts To Open Way For Mediation Fail—First Strike In Government Departments—Disorders and Clashes Between Police and Strikers Reported Over Wide-Spread Areas.

London, May 6.—Great Britain's great industrial war became increasingly bitter tonight, despite the efforts of neutral parties to open the way for mediation.

While Lloyd George and Sir John Simon, Liberal leaders, were exploring the possibilities of mediation, bitter debate was in progress in the House of Commons, with the more extreme Laborites denouncing the government as "this rotten British government" and defying the government leaders to "do your damndest."

The strike was also carried home to the government when 800 employees of the office of works, a government department, joined the strike.

Continued disorders and clashes between the police and strikers are reported over widespread areas. The efforts of the government to break the effects of the strike by the use of volunteers are meeting with some success, but England is still in the midst of chaos.

First Death Reported.

The first death in the strike was announced this afternoon. During a hearing in the magistrates' court at London Tower Bridge it was revealed that one man had been killed as the result of rioting yesterday and last night in Southwark.

Efforts at Mediation.

Efforts at mediation in the general strike were made today by Lloyd George, former Premier, and Sir John Simon, noted Liberal leader and eminent lawyer.

Lloyd George and Sir John Simon have been in conference during the day with both the cabinet and the Trades Union Congress leaders, seeking to explore the possibilities of a settlement.

Their efforts at mediation were undertaken with tact, if not expressed approval, by both the government and the strike leaders.

The progress made by Lloyd George and Sir John is difficult to estimate.

Both the government and the Trades Union Congress remain outwardly adamant and their spokesmen declare there has been no change in the situation.

Political observers were inclined to be doubtful of the possible success of mediation by Lloyd George and Sir John, feeling that for these Liberal leaders to achieve any complete success would be too great a political coup to be permitted by either the conservatives or the laborites. It was believed, however, that the Liberal leaders might at least ameliorate the present situation, which seems a complete deadlock and bring the disputants to a point where they are willing to consider mutual concessions preliminary to resumption of negotiations.

Laborites Call on Veterans

"Forty thousand men in East London who returned from the war are ready to put their backs to the wall and fight again," declared Jack Jones, the stormy laborite of Silverton, in a dramatic moment in the House of Commons this afternoon.

Jones, who was yesterday admonished by the speaker for referring to Lord Hugh Cecil as "The Noble Humbug," was again in a truculent mood today, and the former dock worker broke loose with bitter invective, addressing Sir Douglas Hogg, attorney general who had been defending the government's policy.

"You may discover soon that we have bigger cards to play," shouted Jones, shaking his fist at the ministerial benches.

"If it is asked to be a fight, do your damndest. We are out to fight."

Sir William Joynson Hicks, Home Secretary, indicated that the government is still standing upon its policy of no resumption of negotiations until the general strike is called off, when he renewed his motion that Parliament approve the continuance of the state of emergency regulations for a period of a month.

Stewart Smith and other members of the Miners' Federation executive were in the galleries to listen to the debate.

The House of Commons supported the government resolution prohibiting the prosecution of strikers and unionists during the period of the emergency. An amendment to the resolution providing for such a

Saklatvala Is Sent to Prison

Parson Communist Member of Parliament Is Sentenced to Two Months' Imprisonment—Denied Special Privileges.

London, May 6.—The heavy hand of the British courts fell today upon S. Saklatvala, the little Parson Communist who is a member of Parliament.

Saklatvala, who was arrested on Tuesday on charges of having uttered seditious statements, was arraigned today and given a sentence of two months' imprisonment.

Saklatvala was charged with having urged workers to rise against the government in a speech delivered on May Day.

Saklatvala was released under bonds of $1,000 on Tuesday, for arraignment today.

When brought before the magistrate, Sir Charles Biron, today a demand was made that he offer two sureties to keep the peace. Saklatvala said he could not arrange these sureties and he was given a prison sentence.

"No reasonable man can doubt that your speech was seditious and it was an act of criminal folly," said Sir Charles.

Saklatvala, taking advantage of his position as an M. P., asked the court to grant him special privileges while in prison.

"There is no reason why this court should make special distinctions for you," said Sir Charles and ordered Saklatvala taken to prison immediately.

KILLS HIS WIFE, HER SISTER AND HIMSELF

Bellair, Ohio, May 6.—Edward Davis, 58, a retired farmer, shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Emma Davis, 50, and her sister, Miss Frances Bennett, 30, here today and then killed himself with a bullet through his head.

Davis was believed to have been mentally unbalanced.

After her husband had fired a bullet into the house into the street where she fell dead beside the car tracks, Miss Bennett was shot through the heart. She died almost instantly while standing in the doorway.

Davis, who fired a bullet into one of his temples, died at the hospital thirty minutes later. In his possession were two guns and 50 cartridges.

PRETENDED CRIPPLE CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

Charles B. Tiernan of Poughkeepsie, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Roy Wells of Millard's Garage on a charge of petit larceny and this morning before Judge Shufeldt Tiernan was fined $10.

According to the story as told on the police blotter Tiernan drove his car to the garage Wednesday for repairs. He pretended he was crippled and did not get out of the car. When the work on the car, which amounted to about $6, was completed he sent the boy in the office for the bill, and then stepping on the gas drove away. He was pursued out the Saugerties road by Millard's employees but they lost the trail. Later in the day he was found in the city and arrested.

KINGSTONIANS ATTEND NEW HOTEL OPENING

George H. Wartman, manager of The Governor Clinton Hotel; Louis S. Coe, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; J. H. Gregory, Frank S. Powley, Arthur J. Burns and Herbert Carl left this morning for Glens Falls where they will attend the formal opening and banquet of the Queensbury Hotel of that city. The Queensbury Hotel is operated by the American United Chain Hotel Association.

AIRSHIP NORGIE ARRIVES AT VADSO, NORWAY

Copenhagen, May 6.—The Airship Norgie of the Amundsen-Ellsworth Polar Expedition arrived at Vadsø, Norway, at 4:30 this morning.

The Norgie left Leikanger yesterday on its way to Spitzbergen. It is expected to take off for the remainder of its journey tomorrow, weather permitting.

NASON BASH ARRESTED CHARGED WITH CRUELTY

Nason Bash of No. 172 Hasbrouck Avenue was arrested Wednesday by Officer Aley on a charge of cruelty to animals. It is alleged that he had two calves tied in sacks in a cruel manner in his truck. The hearing will be held Friday in police court.

Cabinet Crisis Feared.

Brussels, May 6.—Finance Minister Janssens released today critics to the seriousness of the financial situation. A cabinet crisis is probable, as the result of the resignation coupled with some already leaked to the public.

Chairman for Hospital Drive

Mrs. Charles Tappen Accepts Chairmanship of Women's Division in Kingston City Hospital Campaign—Everett Fowler and John Hiltbrant Head Men's Division.

Dr. George F. Chandler, executive chairman of the $300,000 Kingston City Hospital campaign, announced today that Mrs. Charles Tappen has accepted the appointment as chairman of the women's division of the campaign. Mrs. Tappen is president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the hospital and has for years been closely associated with the work of the hospital.

Mrs. Tappen will organize about 160 local women into teams to carry out the active solicitation of subscriptions to the fund in the early part of June. There will be sixteen teams of women each composed of a captain and a lieutenant in this division of the campaign organization.

Everett Fowler has accepted the appointment as vice-chairman of the uptown section of the men's division. John Hiltbrant will serve as the vice-chairman of the downtown section of this division, which will be organized into teams similar to the women's division, and consist of about 160 local men. These officials will begin at once to form the personnel of their sections and will shortly announce the captains and lieutenants of the respective teams.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the hospital at the Y. M. C. A. building on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. Chandler and other speakers will explain to them the plans and organization of the campaign, and solicit their aid.

"Ever since its formation in 1894," Dr. Chandler said, "the Ladies' Auxiliary has helped the hospital in every emergency and rendered constant and valuable service to the hospital and through it to the people of Kingston. I don't know how the hospital would have gotten along without it. We feel sure that it will help us in this emergency in its usual hard-working manner and be one of the main factors in the successful termination of this necessary campaign."

Dr. Chandler said that the work of forming the committees and teams of the entire campaign force was getting along in splendid shape, and that he was much pleased with the fine spirit of cooperation that he met with everywhere.

Hornbeck in Jail Awaits Sentence

Calvin Hornbeck, convicted after trial of abduction in taking Josephine Swart to New York and living with her on a boat plying the river, is still in the county jail awaiting sentence. The matter was adjourned over until Wednesday afternoon when sentence was to be imposed by the county court. At that time P. C. Merritt, who appeared for Hornbeck at the trial, failed to appear and Judge Fowler again adjourned the matter until Monday.

At the conclusion of the case Mr. Merritt stated that he would apply for a certificate of reasonable doubt and take an appeal in the case. Hornbeck has been in jail since the trial awaiting sentence.

Increase in Postal Receipts

Washington, May 6.—Postal receipts in fifty selected cities, regarded as barometer of general business conditions, increased 6.08 per cent in April over the same month a year ago, the Post Office Department announced today.

The total this April was $20,851,460, compared to $20,082,231, Jacksonville, Fla., led in percentage increase with 20.38.

Two Negligence Suits on Trial

Both Grow Out of Accident When Ford Car Collided With Oil Company's Truck on East Kingston Road.

Two negligence actions growing out of an automobile collision were taken up in Supreme court this morning for trial. Joe Mitchell and Fannie Stevens, both colored, seek damages from the A. R. Newcombe Oil Corporation. Mitchell seeks to recover for damages to his Ford touring car and Fannie Stevens seeks to recover for personal injuries.

On November 13, 1925, while Mitchell was driving his car from Kingston toward East Kingston he claims one of the oil company trucks collided with his car and caused damage. In his complaint he alleges that a Larabee truck of the company came round a turn and the rear left end of the truck collided with his Ford car, striking it on the left front end, wrecking it. He claims he was operating his car in a careful manner and that the fault was due to the operation of the truck. The road was wet and slippery at the time.

On the other hand the defendant claims that the accident was not due to any negligence on the part of the driver of the defendant's truck but that the negligence was on the part of Mitchell who was operating his car on a slippery road at an excessive speed. The defendant claims that the truck was to the right of the road, that it had been driven for some distance with the right hand wheels off the macadam roadway and that Mitchell was driving at a speed of 30 miles an hour. At the time of the accident, which happened near a turn in the road, the defendant contends the Ford car was skidding and swaying over the road and finally collided with the truck, and that the Ford car was to the left of the road and struck the truck on the rear left fender.

Chris J. Managan appears for the plaintiff and A. J. Cook of Van Etten & Cook appears for the defendant.

The two cases are being tried together.

All Jurors not engaged in the trial of the case were excused until Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

POLICE AND RIOTERS CLASH AT EDINBURGH

Edinburgh, May 6.—Looting was reported today as the result of serious disorders which occurred here during the night.

A crowd of several thousand threw bottles and stones through shop windows and looted the contents. The police charged the mob with batons and mounted police rode into the rioters.

Five arrests were made. Five policemen and several civilians were seriously injured. A police sergeant was slashed in the back with a razor. One mounted policeman's horse took fright at the crowds and crashed into an iron railing. The horse was killed and the policeman seriously injured.

KINGSTON CITY HOSPITAL AUXILIARY MEETING

All members of the auxiliary of the Kingston City Hospital are urged to attend a special meeting of that organization on Friday, May 7, at the Y. M. C. A. at 2:30 in the afternoon.

The auxiliary will be addressed by the local chairman of the forthcoming drive, and will listen to others interested in the rebuilding of the hospital and the construction of a nurses' home.

There will be no appeal for funds on that day, or will any member be urged to work.

Interest in the institution and its restoration after the late calamity should prompt a good attendance.

SOVIET WORKERS WILL AID BRITISH STRIKERS

Moscow, May 6.—The Soviet Trades Union Council today ordered $125,000 sent to England as the first deposit of a Russian fund for the aid of the British strikers.

The council announced that it expects to raise nearly $2,000,000 for this purpose by its levy of a quarter of a day's wages upon all Soviet workers.

Soviet dock workers today refused to handle shipments of supplies destined for England.

Newspapers and Strike Regulations

In Some Form or Other They Appeared On Streets of London—Signed Statements of Premier Say Strike Points To Anarchy and Ruin.

London, May 6.—Virtually all the London newspapers, augmented by the official strike news bulletin, the British Gazette, and the British Worker, appeared on the streets in some form or other this morning. The Times, the Daily Mirror and Daily Mail published makeshift editions while many provincial papers succeeded in getting out abbreviated editions.

The British Worker was given permission to appear only after Scotland Yard inspectors were assured that it would contain nothing of an inflammatory nature.

"The strikers are committing a high offense and a dangerous offense against the nation," an editorial in the Times declared. "Neither sympathy nor good will will prevent the nation from punishing this misdeed to be applied to the nation with the certainty of enormous loss and the probability of economic disaster—until the national will is founded upon the national will to hope—compels parliament to bow to the usurping authority."

"Indignation and resentment are general among the body of the people at this attempt to force them to surrender. They will not surrender, and the sooner the enemies of the people realize that the better for them and for us all."

The British Worker declared that the government's volunteers were not affecting the situation to an appreciable extent, adding that "the stoppage is complete and remains complete."

People Confident of Government.

An editorial in the Daily Mirror said: "The people expect the government not to fail in its duty. If the cabinet surrenders a Democratic government will be forever impossible in this country. The nation is firm. It is calm and confident. There must be no provocation."

Publication of the newspapers was accomplished in the face of almost insuperable difficulties, strikers impeding the makeshift crews at every step.

Numerous bundles of papers were destroyed, and only after fist battles and scuffling were the remaining portions of editions loaded on trucks.

A man was arrested in the hallway of the Times office, a few minutes after he had touched a match to a pool of benzine.

At least three home-made papers, purporting to give complete news of the strike, appeared. These were the work of amateurs.

Premier Baldwin's Statement.

A signed statement from Premier Baldwin appeared in the British Gazette, reading as follows: "Constitutional government is being attacked. Let all good citizens whose livelihood and labor has thus been put in peril bear with fortitude and patience with which they have suddenly been confronted.

"Stand behind the government which is going its part, confident that you will cooperate in the measures undertaken to preserve the liberties and privileges of the people on these islands. The laws of England are the people's birthright. The laws are in your keeping and you have made parliament their guardian."

CRISPPELL BEGINS SERVING SENTENCE

Jesse T. Crispell, whose suspended sentence to Elmira was revoked and the original sentence put into effect by County Judge Joseph M. Fowler, was taken to Elmira Reformatory by a guard from that institution Wednesday. Crispell, charged with stealing an automobile for a joy ride last winter, was given a suspended sentence to Elmira at that time. A few days ago he took a motorcycle and was arrested by the local police. The charge of taking a joy ride held open and Crispell was arraigned in court before Judge Fowler and the suspended sentence revoked and the original sentence put into effect.

Dr. Palmer from Napanoch to determine his mental condition. The report of the doctor was to the effect that Crispell was normal.

STATE THROUNDER RECOVERED STEWART'S STOLEN AUTO

Saturday evening John H. Stewart of 32 Liberty street, street side of the Van Buren street, when Gregory Gregory's store, and when he came out of the store it was found his car missing. He reported the theft to the police who sent out a general alarm and on Monday the car was recovered by State Troopers at Napanoch and returned to Mr. Stewart.

Lawrence Jones Lost Ten Days.

Winchester, Mass., May 6.—Injured in a fall from the roof of a house under construction at Shrewsbury ten days ago, Alexander Henderson, 42, a carpenter, was still unconscious at the time of the fall today. He has been in a coma for 285 hours. The doctors have been unsuccessful in all the fall.

Supervisors in Special Session Apportion Money

Funds Available from Motor Vehicle Fees, State and County Highway Monies, Divided Among Towns—County Auditors and Board of Elections Report Their Expenditures.

With Chairman Joseph F. Scott presiding, the board of supervisors held a session Wednesday evening that began about 8:15 o'clock and continued until 11:15 when a motion to adjourn subject to the call of the chair was adopted.

Highway matters formed the greater part of the business transacted, the automobile, county and state highway monies being apportioned among the towns, the vote being 17 yeas to 16 nays, Chairman Scott voting ayes on each resolution.

Amendments were made by Supervisor Shultz to the two resolutions but they were lost by 17 yeas to 16 nays, Chairman Scott casting the deciding votes.

County Auditors Report.

The board of auditors reported that since January 1 they had paid out amounts as follows:

Jail inmates	$286.61
Children's court	20.25
County Judge	152.97

County clerk as registrar	627.51
County jail	1,677.97
Van Buren building	185.54
District attorney	414.11
Snow removal	15,074.00

The former board of auditors had previously to January 1, 1926, issued warrants for $3,013.69. Amount appropriated, December 1, 1925, $30,000; audits, $29,745.35; balance $254.65. Filed.

Election Board Expenses $14,205.01.

The board of elections submitted a long report covering work done for primary, registrations, elections, etc., during 1925. Amount of expenses, $14,205.01. Filed.

A communication was read from the State Commissioner of Bldg asking for contribution from the county of $25 for the care of Mrs. Ella M. Bollen of 5 Eaton Court, Ellenville, as the law provides can be done, she being worthy of care. A resolution of Supervisor Shultz that such relief allowance be granted and county treasurer pay same from May 1 to December 31, was adopted.

Supervisor Simpson offered resolutions that as per recommendation of state highway department there be appropriated $89,250, the county's share of 35 per cent, for improvement of Ulster & Delaware Part 2 and 3, highway in the town of Shandaken; also $840 for bridge No. 4, $4,350 for bridge No. 3, $6,580 for bridge No. 1, $7,800 for bridge No. 2, all in the town of Shandaken. Adopted.

Highways to be Improved.

Superintendent Dushinbre offered a resolution that Road 415-A running through the hamlet of New Hurley to Ireland Corners, a distance of 5.31 miles, of concrete construction be built with federal aid. The U. S. contributes $79,500, the state, $156,190, and the county share will be $126,910. Adopted.

On motion of Supervisor Fergusson a road about two miles in length at Ruby in the town of Ulster was placed on the county highway map for improvement.

On motion of Supervisor Hamilton a road from Sullivan county line to Red Hill post office was added to the county map, all in the town of Denning.

On motion of Supervisor Shaw a duplicate agreement on Welsh lot in the town of New Paltz, outside the village, was ordered cancelled by the assessors. Carried.

On motion of Supervisor Thomas, $12,000 was appropriated and paid to county treasurer to be credited to county auditors' fund. Carried. The county auditors offered a resolution which was adopted that a duplicate warrant for $452 given Henry Miller by county auditors, which has been lost, be issued on Mr. Miller giving a bond for that amount.

Supervisor Thomas offered a resolution that county treasurer be authorized to borrow $14,809.17 at 6 per cent and place to the credit of fund for construction of county roads. Carried.

Motor Vehicle Fees Approved.

County Treasurer Joel Brink reported that he had $92,311.93 motor vehicle fees on hand. Later Supervisor Thomas offered a resolution that it be apportioned as follows among towns for road purposes:

Denning	$10,000.00
Ellenville	12,000.00
Gardiner	12,000.00
Hardenburgh	10,000.00
Hurley	12,000.00
Lloyd	12,000.00
Marlborough	12,000.00
New Paltz	12,000.00
Shandaken	12,000.00
Ulster	12,000.00
Walden	12,000.00
Watersburg	12,000.00
Wurtsboro	12,000.00
Yonkers	12,000.00

Supervisor Shultz offered an amendment that Denning and Marlborough be reduced to $8,000 each and $1,000 be added to New Paltz. He said Denning and Marlborough were without state road mileage, small population. Supervisor and Shultz had not been taken into consideration. Later larger towns.

German Mothers on Parade

The fad of pushing their own baby carriages has taken fashionable German mothers in Berlin by storm. It used to be extremely bad form for a mother to be seen with her child on Kurfurstendamm, Berlin's Montmartre. Now it is the proper thing for the Berliner frau to show off her latest spring hat or coat while giving the baby an airing. The avenue is crowded in the early afternoon with parades of baby buggies. Uniformed nursemaids are much in evidence, as usual, but mothers do all the work, the maids merely accompanying the youngsters.

Steer "Cow Pony"

The school bell rings and Kohler Lobello, thirteen, of Bryan, Texas, runs out the front door, mounts his steer and rides four miles to attend his classes. The boy raised the steer and broke him to ride single or double. He has ridden about the streets of Bryan so regularly that the sight has ceased to cause any unusual interest. One of the favorite tricks of the steer is to round-up cattle. The youth says that in the steer he has the best "cow pony" in Texas.—Indianapolis News.

Disco—Formal Attire

London is having a difficult time driving Englishmen back to wearing evening clothes. Some of the prominent London clubs have adopted rules that only men in evening attire may dine in the main dining room. The result has been that a few men have been seen in the big dining room, while the smaller rooms are crowded with diners in business attire. The war raised havoc with formal attire for men.

Chocolate Popular

Cocoa or cacao, the kernel or seed of a tropical tree, was introduced into England shortly after the discovery of Mexico. From the kernel is obtained chocolate, and when the fat has been pressed from chocolate the substance remaining is known as cocoa. Great quantities of chocolate are now used in many kinds of confectionery, and from cocoa is made a nutritious and refreshing beverage.

Dangerous to Keep

Aspects of the British Strike

London, May 6.—Public opinion is widely diversified, on the general strike as shown by statements collected by International News Service.

Some striking statements are as follows:

Premier Baldwin—"The general strike is a challenge to parliament and is the road to anarchy and ruin."

Sir Webb, Socialist writer and former member of the labor cabinet—"All this talk of revolution is a metaphorical nonsense. The Trades Union themselves know nothing of it. We are a cool nation."

Walter Bunciman shipping magnate and former president of the board of trade—"The general strike has ceased to be effective. We hope that the miners will realize that you can't get more out of an industry than there is in it."

Robert Williams chairman of the Labor Party—"I cannot venture to predict the duration of the strike but it will continue until the government realizes the justification of the men's claims."

Sir Alfred Mond, conservative leader and business magnate—"Like all general strikes this one is a partial success but there can be no doubt the country will win through, although the dislocation and loss will be very great."

Sir Robert Horne, former chancellor of the exchequer—"The British people have never surrendered to tyranny and they will not surrender to it now."

David Lloyd George, former premier—"The fate of the nation is in the hands of the government and I trust the emergency regulations will be carried out with the same restraint and impartiality that the British government has always shown. In that way, the nation can come through with credit."

CEDAR FORESTS OF LEBANON ARE GONE

Little Remains of the Once Mighty Groves.

Of all the mighty cedar forests which once clothed the gray heights of Lebanon there survive but a few huddled groups of trees, as the cedars above Ain Zannita and those above Baruk. But of all these poor survivors there is one grove known above all others as Al Arz—the Cedars—the tiny forest of some four hundred trees which lies like a small black stain on the bosom of the mountains above the sacred valley of the Qadisha.

These insignificant groves are sole survivors of the fair forests which once spread over the whole Lebanon, and for their disappearance the axe is alone responsible. For centuries and tens of centuries the people of the Lebanon have hacked and sawn and hewn and felled, until not only the cedar, but the cypress, oak, poplar and pine as well have dwindled away.

Of all trees the slowly maturing cedar has most suffered. It furnished Hiram and his Phoenicians with the sweet-scented timber which they sold to Solomon and the other kings of the earth for their temples and palaces. The Greek settlers used it, and so did the Romans during their occupation—and so have all races, whether of the soil or foreign to it, which have utilized the resources of the Lebanon. It is only a sentiment approaching to religious awe which has preserved these last stragglers of a vanished host.

There is one guarded spot—the patch above the Qadisha. A wall has been built around the cedars, and the grove is looked upon as a national treasure, a national sanctuary. It is, in fact, the last sacred grove. Most people when they go to the Cedars take the new carriage road from Tripoli. But we preferred to take the old road which, as it climbs up from Shekka on the coast to Hadat, offers some of the finest and wildest scenery in the Lebanon.

It runs close to the forge of the Qadisha. Above, far away, towers the highest peak of the Lebanon, Qommatas-Saoud, and immediately above, like huge walls erected by Titans, sparsely grown precipices shut in the valley, their sternness softened here and there by terraced vineyards. Ever upward climbs the road until at last the mountain villages of Boshareh and Eshden are visible on a distant height, with a black spot staining the mountain behind them. That spot is the Cedars.

And that remnant of a forest, fenced about with a gray stone wall outside which but a few trunks remain, is all that remains of a forest once so great that it is a mighty remnant, after all. As one climbs up over the slippery, sweet-scented needles, layer upon layer, deep into the solemn and ancient wood, one realizes that it is enough to evoke all that the words "Cedars of Lebanon" imply.

They grow close, these trees, a few of which number their years not in hundreds but in tens of hundreds, and within their shade there is the gloom and hush of a holy place. Some of the veterans have attained an immense size, and five men are needed to encircle one aged trunk with their arms. It is reported to have seen two thousand summers and winters. Who knows? It may have seen the birth of Christianity, the first fearful years of the faith and its triumph.

The silence, and the twilight made by the thick branches, and the hush of the sun-warmed, aromatic timber, give the impression that one is in a temple to which the little Maronite chapel which pines people have built in the center of the wood seems an unnecessary. The chapel bell is hung on the trunk of a cedar tree nearby, and once during the day its voice rings out through the wood calling people to prayer.

One touch of vulgarity makes the whole world kin.

Despatches From Foreign Parts

Moscow, May 6.—Three high officials of the commissariat of finance, Lazarus Volin, Abram Chepelevsky, and Leon Rabinovitch, have been executed after having been charged with wholesale speculation in foreign currency. A number of minor officials have been arrested and imprisoned.

Warsaw, May 6.—The movement to make General Pilsudski, Polish war hero, director of the nation gained momentum today following the resignation last night of the cabinet.

Berlin, May 6.—Police today were seeking to round up two thieves who beat and robbed professor Meyer, 48, Chicago physician, of $1,100 in cash and $2,300 in jewelry.

London, May 6.—Sympathy was expressed by the presiding judge of the divorce court for Mrs. A. B. K. F. H. G. P. D. Hill when she was asked to give her full name in the hearing of her case against her husband.

The answer was—"Acie Bethel Kitzinger Firth Ishit Helena Golga Pretoria Denver Hill."

Sandwich, England, May 6.—Percy B. Lucas, aged ten, is the youngest golfer in the world to accomplish a hole in one. He holed his tee shot on a 154 yard hole.

London, May 6.—Proposals for an increase in the salary of the Lord Mayor of London are under consideration as the result of complaints that his present stipend of $50,000 is insufficient.

What Does He See?

The prophetic nature of this photograph, taken during the British strikes of last Summer, is causing considerable comment in England. J. H. Thomas, the man smoking a pipe and looking off into the distance, is the nation's greatest labor leader. The scene is the present strike headquarters atop the Grand Hotel at Scarborough. What does Thomas see in his mind's eye? Revolution? Bloodshed? Defeat? Civil War?

Deaf Hear Instantly.

Amazing Invention Brings Immediate Relief To Those Who Are Deaf.

A wonderful invention which enables the hard of hearing to hear all sounds as clearly and distinctly as a child, has been perfected by the Dictograph Products Corporation, Suite 3212, 220 to 224 West 42nd street, New York City. There is no waiting, no delay, no danger,—but quick, positive, instantaneous results—You hear instantly. So positive are the makers that everyone who is hard of hearing will be amazed and delighted with this remarkable invention, the Acousticon, that they are offering to send it absolutely free for 10 days' trial. No deposit—no C. O. D.—no obligation whatever. If you suffer, take advantage of their liberal free trial offer. Send them your name and address today—Adv.

Overnight News Told in Brief

New York, May 6.—Fifty thousand dollars has been left to Mme. Aso-Neith-Nepya Cochran, convicted and fined for "fortune telling" in 1918, by the late Mrs. Anna Dodge McCullough, granddaughter of William Earl Dodge and Oliver Harriman.

Ossining, N. Y.—There are now 7,200 prisoners in the prisons of New York, practically their total capacity. James L. Long, superintendent of prisons, announced.

New London, Conn.—William Patterson, 18, of the Coast Guard, was drowned when he fell into the Thames River.

New York—Girl Scout leaders of thirty-nine nations here to attend the International Conference of Girl Scouts at Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., arrived on the Lister Olympic.

New York—In a letter sent from Kansas City, Sinclair Lewis refused the Pulitzer prize of $1,000 awarded to him by the Pulitzer Prize Committee for his novel "Arrowsmith," and denounced prizes for literary efforts as objectionable and dangerous because "in another generation authors might be led to strive for prizes rather than for literary merit, and that in time the administration of the prizes might become a supreme court, a 'College of Cardinals' so sacred that to challenge them would be to commit blasphemy."

Glasco School Factions Clash

The annual school meeting held in Glasco Tuesday evening was attended by nearly four hundred residents of that place and adjourned to May 12. The rival camps, those who favor the $100,000 building proposition and those who oppose it, were represented by legal counsel, while the state education department also had a representative present. Andrew J. Cook appeared for those in favor and the rival camp was represented by Benjamin Rowe of Saugerties.

Discussion over a new school building in Glasco has raged for several months and feeling is said to be high. The trustees favor a new building, while the opponents agree that not over $40,000 to $60,000 should be expended on a new building or improving the present structure.

The meeting Tuesday had been called for Pierson's Hall but the trustees refused to allow the meeting to be held there, claiming they had not been consulted by the trustees prior to the notice of the meeting being given, and the meeting was held in the open air.

Nominations for chairman were made and John W. Lent was named by the pros and John Canale for the cons. Mr. Lent declined and Mr. Canale was elected. An adjournment to May 12 was then taken.

Great Britain Still in Chaos

his ultimatum that negotiations were out of the questions until the Trades Union called off the strike.

At the present stage, with the industrial and transportation tie-up exceeding their expectations, the congress executives said they would not consider halting the strike, although indicating they were willing to negotiate whenever the government was ready.

Meanwhile, the nation is generally calm, going about its business as best it can with a disorganized transportation system. The railways and bus companies, with the aid of the government, have succeeded in getting a sketchy service going, with prospects of steady improvement.

70 Persons Arrested.

A large detachment of mounted police was rushed to Southwark after a mob had stopped, emptied and burned a bus.

At Hammermith interference with the busses became so serious that police closed the principal streets to all vehicles plying for hire.

Gangs of rowdies were ranging throughout the district, stopping busses and removing their spark plugs. Hundreds of police on duty in the district were virtually ineffective. Although all of them are armed they are under strict orders not to shoot unless their lives are in danger.

Seventy persons have been arrested.

Fighting was also reported at Shepherd's Bush where a mob halted a trolley car under police protection and flung missiles through the windows, shouting "Blacklegs," the British equivalent for scab.

The police denied a report that a man had been killed in the East End Rough Element Attack Busses.

The government is moving food and troops largely by motor trucks, assisted by barges and coastwise steamers.

The chief obstacle today in the path of a peaceful settlement was the effort of the rougher elements to keep individual motorists and independent bus drivers from operating to aid the movement of the thousands deprived of ordinary means of transportation.

Attacks on motorists have resulted in scores of disturbances and injuries to both strikers and police. Soldiers of the regular army have reinforced the police in all danger zones to such an extent that Scotland Yard expressed confidence today of its ability to keep the situation from getting out of hand.

The Trade Union Congress leaders repeatedly warned the strikers that disturbances of this kind are very damaging to the prospects of a peaceful termination of the dispute. They have expressed the fear that rioting may spread to the point where action by the government to maintain order might precipitate a situation impossible to control.

An instance of potential danger was the overturning of a truck and the pouring out of its load of hundreds of gallons of gasoline on a street not far from the London docks. A lighted match would have started a serious conflagration.

Minor Disturbances.
The East India Dock comparatively quiet although one man was with injuries suffered during the night.

Several minor disturbances took place at Battersea. It is with Broadway, the most important traffic artery to the western suburbs, was the center of most trouble in the metropolitan districts. Strikers there repeatedly attacked bus drivers in an attempt to check the development of an emergency transportation service. As an emergency measure all buses on roads where trouble is likely to occur were provided with two armed police.

The police were needed especially on buses operated by bowler-hatted conductors and drivers in spats, all sorts of picturesque families. The bus company was trying to operate with a few hundred buses.

Railway officials reported this morning that service through Britain was rapidly increasing. It was stated officially that few docks were on hand subject to suitable life if not properly.

Some people have to pay cash because they are not known, and some because they are.

CITIZENS OR SUBJECTS.

Senator Bingham of Connecticut wants the American people to consider whether they are "citizens or subjects" and when they understand conditions well enough to realize that they are fast becoming the latter, he urges them to seek to go back to the old American method of governing themselves within their own States instead of abandoning and putting themselves under the rule of the President, Congress and the multitude of commissions which the overburdened Federal government finds it necessary to employ. Such advice is the more notable as coming from a Republican, for until within comparatively recent years the Republican party was altogether responsible for the growth of Federal centralization, that party from the outset having adopted along with anti-slavery the old Federalist (Hamiltonian) party's principle of a strong and widely dominating Federal government, as opposed to the Democratic party's policy (now largely abandoned) of State rights and local self-government.

Though himself a Yale professor, Senator Bingham spoke in particular against the movement backed by school teachers to create a Cabinet office to direct all the country's public schools, with an ample Federal subsidy. He also very earnestly and convincingly contended that the modern practice of shifting the burden upon the Federal government and evading State or local responsibility of government can be persisted in only at the price of the citizen's liberty, at the price of transforming the citizen into a subject—a transformation already in progress to an extent to alarm all but the unreflecting.

INTOLERANT "FREETHINKERS"

Referring to the attempt to restrain the school authorities of White Plains, N. Y., from allowing school children to be dismissed half an hour a week at the request of their parents, to receive religious instruction, which can not be given in schools supported by taxation, the Philadelphia Record pointedly remarks that "freethinkers seem to be under the impression that they are the only persons who have the right to think freely"—and further:

If a parent possesses any right at all he has a right to control the religious instruction of his child. In the Oregon school case, where the attempt was made to wipe out all schools not supported by taxation, the Supreme Court of the United States affirmed this right of the parent in the most explicit terms, and it seems a piece of bigotry for the freethinkers to seek to prevent it. The religious instruction can not be given in the public schools, but why should not the Catholic or the Presbyterian children be dismissed for half an hour to receive such religious instruction as their parents prefer? Only a freethinker could think of any reason. It seems to be as easy for persons of no religion as for those who have one to be intolerant.

This intolerant spirit has been widely displayed, notably in connection with the Tennessee anti-evolution law, the freethinkers not only demanding that children be taught evolution but showing a derisive and determined intolerance of any other opinion as to the origin of mankind.

It is announced that "for the first time in history the Metropolitan Opera Company will present next season a three-act opera written and composed by Americans, with an English libretto." The reference is to "The King's Henchman," by James Taylor, composer, and Edgar Vincent Millay, poet. This in addition to the recent debuts of Mary Lewis and Marion Talley may be accepted as proof that the managers of the Metropolitan Opera Company are no longer shy of American talent as such and have greatly modified their former alleged policy of dealing only in European-made reputations.

Prof. Fisher estimates that the country is saving six millions a year in relief without beer and liquor, but United States District Attorney Buckner does not seem to think that the country is very largely "going without beer." He estimates the possible savings of the bootleggers at $1,400,000,000 which is said to be about double the country's debt. Will before the war. The enforcement of the law and the Government's loss of revenue also call for consideration when the country's material "saving" is calculated.

The President's alarm at the vast neglect of voting has plentiful basis and he is obviously right in thinking that a sense of duty should carry people to the polls. One trouble is that the evasion or suppression of issues in which the people are interested and on which they are sharply divided inevitably breeds indifference to a ballot box which merely calls for the election of office holders.

THE BLOOD AND CANCER.

While the world is patiently waiting to learn the cause of and cure for cancer, every research laboratory has some men working upon it.

Two South American research men are demonstrating to their colleagues a new test for cancer, made by examination of the blood in suspected cases.

In a series of 200 patients, there were 66 of internal cancer, 112 patients with disease other than cancer, and 21 with cancers on the skin or mucous membrane.

The test was made by using a few drops of the liquid part of the blood with a few drops of a neutral red stain.

Where there is no cancer serum the tint changes rapidly to a more or less reddish color.

In the 65 cancer cases the test showed positive in every case but one.

In the group free from cancer, the response was negative in every case.

In the 21 cases of the skin or mucous membrane, the reaction was positive in 23 per cent of the cases.

That the skin cancers showed positive in only one case in three was likely due to the fact that these surface cancers had an outlet for their secretions, whereas the cancers inside the body would effect the general blood stream and other tissues to a greater extent.

As you know the blood carries everything to all the cells of the body and carries away all its waste and worn out parts.

Blood carrying poisons to the organs that throw these poisons out of the body, can be delayed by over-eating, constipation and lack of exercise, so that it leaves some of its wastes or poisons where they can do considerable damage to the cells of the part, whether that part is a delicate organ like the brain, or the more rugged muscles of the body.

Today's Story in New York History

By Frederic A. Godcharles.

British Attack and Destroy Fort Ontario, at Oswego, May 6, 1814.

Oswego was known to Champlain years before the Pilgrim Fathers landed on the bleak shores of Plymouth, Massachusetts. It was also known to other early French explorers and Jesuit missionaries who followed the water route up the Oswego River to the lands of the Iroquois. The importance of the harbor and river was recognized and for nearly two centuries the command of which made this section of New York the scene of constant warfare.

The saga of three nations have down over Oswego. The French, when Frontenac built a fort there in 1725, then British, when they erected two fortifications in preparation for the French and Indian War. Montreal captured and demolished these forts, August 11, 1759, but two years later the British recaptured Oswego and re-built Fort Ontario.

It was here that Sir William Johnson made peace with Pontiac, July 1766. In the Revolutionary War Oswego was held first by the British, then by the colonists, again by the British, who held it after the treaty of peace, and until July, 1796, when it was the last frontier post surrendered to the United States under the Jay Treaty.

Oswego was a place of much importance at the time of the War of 1812, and for nearly two years was in possession of the Americans. During the summer of 1813 both the British and Americans made preparations for a struggle, the result of which, would be the mastery of Lake Ontario.

When the ice in Kingston (Canada) harbor permitted vessels to leave it, Sir James L. Yeo, commander of the British squadron in those waters, went out upon the lake with his force of about three thousand land-troops and marines.

On May 5, 1814, Yeo appeared off Oswego harbor, which was defended by Fort Ontario, on a bluff on the east side of the river, with a garrison of about three hundred men under Lieutenant Colonel George E. Mitchell.

Commodore Isaac Chauncey, not feeling strong enough to oppose Yeo, prudently remained with his squadron at Sackett's Harbor. The active cruising force of Sir James consisted of eight vessels, carrying an aggregate of 252 pieces of ordnance. To oppose this formidable fleet there was only one schooner, the "Growler," under Captain Woolsey at Oswego. She was in the river for the purpose of conveying guns and naval stores to Sackett's Harbor.

The Americans sunk the "Growler" to prevent her falling into the hands of the enemy, and her crew, under Lieutenant Pearce, joined the garrison in the fort.

Fort Ontario mounted only six old cannons, three of which were almost useless, because they had lost their trunnions. Mitchell's force was too small to defend both the fort and the village, on the west side of the river, so he pitched his tents near the town and gathered his entire command into the fort.

Deceived by this appearance of military strength at the village, the British proceeded to attack the fort, leaving the defenseless town unprotected.

The land-troops, in fifteen large boats, covered by the guns of the vessels, reached the shore near the fort in the afternoon, where they were repulsed by a cannon placed near the shore.

The next morning, May 6, the fleet again appeared and opened fire on the fort. The troops landed in the afternoon, and after a sharp fight in the open field, the garrison retreated, and the British invested the fort.

The main object of the attack was the seizure of naval stores at the falls of the Oswego River (now Fulton), and Mitchell, after leaving the fort, took position for their defense.

Early on the morning of May 7, the invaders dismantled Fort Ontario, and burned the barracks. They also raised the "Growler," and carried her away.

In this action the Americans lost 69 in killed, wounded and missing; the British lost 19 killed and 75 wounded.

Try to Economize Growing Potatoes

Four Dollar Seed Means Big Investment and Demands Good Fall Price to Get Money Back.

With seed potatoes costing four dollars a bushel and no indication of what the crop will be worth in the fall, it is necessary to economize everywhere possible in growing and planting this year's crop, according to Professor E. V. Hardenburg, of the state college of agriculture.

"Careful preparation of the soil, early planting to insure blossoming and tuber-setting before the hot days of mid-summer, and treatment with corrosive sublimate are all more important this year than during an average year of lower prices," he says.

"In all cases, cost of production will be high, and when one considers an initial investment of sixty dollars an acre for fifteen bushels of four-dollar seed, it is realized that care must be taken to protect such an investment.

"If the grower is selecting from a healthy, high-yielding crop," says Professor Hardenburg, "he may consider using small whole potatoes for seed this year. Instead of paying top price for a better grade of seed. The most efficient way to use a given amount of seed is to cut the potatoes into rather small pieces of one to one and a half ounces in weight, and to plant them in hills spaced from 14 to 18 inches apart, but one year's planting of small, whole seed from a high-yielding strain should not materially reduce the size of the crop.

"Such a crop, should not, of course, be used as a seed source for the following year, and growers who are maintaining seed plots should let nothing interfere with their practice of keeping that up to the highest standard."

Boys' Division Banquet Friday

The members of the Boys' Division of the Y. M. C. A. are looking forward to their annual closing banquet which will be held on Friday evening, May 7, at 6 o'clock.

The season of activity of the Boys' Division has been a very happy one as well as active. The boys have been regular and active attendants at every activity.

The gymnasium classes have been very popular as well as the Bible class work which has been successful the past winter.

With the close of the winter season the boys look anxiously forward to the closing banquet for there they learn the ones who have been lucky enough to win the medals offered by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. and the honor cup offered each year by Charles A. Warren.

This year the contests have been unusually hard and the boy who wins his medal will deserve it for the competition given by the others has made the judging of the events no easy task.

The swimming, improvement and best all round members especially have been closely contested. To judge them will be a difficult matter for the committee.

The Hi-Y Club has closed its season for this year. The Kappa Phi Theta group will continue on for another month as they have work among them that must be finished before the period of Regents begins.

The Hi-Y deputation team has a few more meetings to hold and they have been forced to refuse as many more as there has not been time for them to carry them on Sunday night they will be at the Rondout Presbyterian Church. The following Sunday a few of them will go to Woodstock to take part in the local Christian Endeavor rally of that section. The following Sunday they expect to go to Millerton to take charge of the morning service in the Methodist Church of that town.

The Boy Scout troop of the Y. M. C. A. is very active and hold their regular meeting every Monday night at 7 o'clock.

The two lodges of Pioneers meet regularly. The other week one of the lodges visited the Mt. St. Alphonsus observatory as the guests of Fr. Robert Becke. A very pleasant hour was spent looking at the stars and the moon through the telescope.

FLATBUSH.

Flatbush, May 6.—Miss Margaret Wallace spent the week end with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. A. V. S. Wallace.

Miss Marie Klotz is visiting in New York.

Prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Osterhout on Thursday at 8 o'clock, day-night service time.

Mrs. Harry Perkins who has been quite ill is convalescing at the home of her sister, Mrs. Albert New York.

William H. Smart, Jr., who is in with grip and bronchitis is improving.

LIGHT WALLS MAKE SMALL ROOM LARGER.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 6.—To make a small house seem larger, finish the walls of the hall, dining room, and living-rooms alike, advises the state college of home economics here. A plain, light-colored paper or paint will also give the impression of space, and if a patterned wall is used, the design should give the impression of texture rather than that of a definite pattern. Those who know say that those who live in apartments or small houses will find their rooms seeming far more spacious if these suggestions are followed.

After the right background is secured, the next step is to have furniture of appropriate size. Huge pieces of over-stuffed furniture dwarf small rooms but a few good sized or willow chairs or chairs of the Windsor type are in keeping with the size of the average apartment. One large wing chair covered with linen, chintz, or some soft drill-colored material is the only big chair that most small living rooms need. With a table of moderate size and possibly a comfortable couch, little else is needed to make a pleasant room.

Mirrors help to give the effect of space and a mirror of good proportions over a buffet, table or mantelpiece will seem to enlarge the room in which it is used. Pictures need to be used sparingly in the small room, as too many of them make the room seem crowded.

Small bedrooms should be painted or papered in some plain soft color. The furniture need not be expensive or necessarily of the same kind, but the pieces should harmonize in design and color with the room. A will not resemble a "match-all" for what is left over from the rest of the house. Frequently odd pieces may well be combined if they are painted to suit the color scheme of the room.

ACCORD.

Accord, May 6.—All mothers attending the services at the Rochester Reformed Church next Sunday morning will be presented with a carnation, the Mothers' Day flower, by the young people of the church. The Rev. Richard H. Harper will speak at this service. Mr. Harper has been a missionary among the Okla-homa Indians for a number of years. Every one is welcome to the 10:30 church service. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Young People's Meeting at 7:30 p. m. A Mothers' Day service is being planned, the topic being, "How to Build Happy Homes." The leader will be Marion Simpson. Miss Ella Alexander is visiting relatives in Accord.

vice is being planned, the topic being, "How to Build Happy Homes." The leader will be Marion Simpson. Miss Ella Alexander is visiting relatives in Accord.

Mrs. Kent of Tuxedo Park has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McNair.

The regular Sunday morning services will be held on May 9, in the M. E. Church. Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Preaching service at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Lane's sermon will be appropriate to Mothers' Day and all mothers are especially invited to attend.

Myron Coddington and family of Liberty, N. Y., spent last Sunday afternoon with Mr. Coddington's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter V. Coddington.

An evening of fun and entertainment is promised when the New Paltz young people come over to give their play, "Polly Wants a Cracker," for the Accord Home Bureau. It will be given some evening the latter part of this month. The date will be announced later.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Rochester Reformed Church will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Miss Edna Baker on Wednesday, May 12. This will be an all day meeting to quilt and make aprons for the fair. All members are asked to come and help. Please bring your lunch.

An entertainment will be given at the Odd Fellows Hall on Friday evening, May 7, at 8 o'clock, stand and time, given by Hurley talent.

Mothers' Day at Zion Church. On Sunday evening a Mothers' Day program will be fittingly observed at the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church and it is hoped that the day will be well celebrated by all the members of the church. The evening's program will be of great inspirational interest and all are invited. A white carnation should be worn by all the members of the church.

Mothers' Day at Stone Ridge.

Stone Ridge, May 6.—Mothers' Day will be observed in the Stone Ridge M. E. Church on Sunday, May 9. All mothers having no other church home are very cordially invited to be present at the Sunday school session at 10 o'clock in the morning and at the preaching service at 11 o'clock. All mothers present at 10 o'clock service will receive a carnation at the occasion.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE BACKWARD SPRING

Now Mistress Springtime had been very busy making big preparations. She had come along to the northern parts of the country, bringing with her many dresses of pale green and blue and trimmings and decorations of blossoms and spring flowers. She had unpacked a little at a time so as not to get too tired unpacking.

But she had so much in her springtime trunk and she knew how everyone would want to see her costumes a little slowly.

Of course, in time, she became a bit excited over all the "Ah's" and "Oh's" that greeted her and she showed people more and more of her glories.

This time she became so interested in all the first places where she had stopped that she neglected for a long, long time a number of other places.

In fact she had been a little late about arriving in a number of spots.

People said:

"It is a backward spring."

And do you know that made Mistress Springtime feel a little shy?

Yes, she felt that the people, even though they would want to see her arrive, would make her feel slightly uncomfortable.

Just as a shy person feels even more shy before those who are always saying:

"Now don't be shy, my dear; we're all going to be good friends," so did Mistress Springtime feel when she heard them call her backward.

She felt it would be cold where they were and that the chill in the air and their cold voices when they said that spring was backward would be more than she could endure until there really was warmer weather.

So she kept putting it off and people said again and again:

"Spring is backward."

Well, at last she knew she must visit these people for if she didn't summer would come right along and there really would be no spring at all. She didn't want it that way.

She didn't want them to say that really there had been no spring at all and that they had had summer right after winter.

So she started to visit these places. But it still didn't seem chilly.

She felt backward since they had said so.

She found herself hiding her face behind her green cloak and pulling down her hat of buds so that the buds felt shy, too, and did not feel like opening into flowers, as they usually do, you know, right on her hat.

Oh, it was hard to be a high-spirited spring when she had been told she was backward and when she had felt backward, too.

Yes, she was shy, quite shy.

But suddenly she decided that she would not let people make her feel so shy.

There was nothing she should feel shy about. She would be ready to do what she could do.

She would not hide behind her cape or keep the buds from bursting into bloom.

She sang her songs from her and danced and played and the buds opened their shy, sleepy eyes to see what Spring was doing.

She laughed right in the very face of old Mr. Sun so that he stared with delight.

And the people said:

"Well, spring was backward, but certainly we have had a beautiful spring, even though a short one, before summer actually came."

Minding Her Pace.

Nutty Natural History

By HUGH BUTLER

THE STUTTERING CUPOLA.

The cupola is a rather peculiar animal found only on the island of Spitzbergen, which is a free translation from the Scandinavian, means expectorating mountain. The climate is so cold in Spitzbergen that the cupola is continually shivering, and always stutters when it attempts to speak. Like all mammals, the cupola has learned to shiver as a means of collecting his thoughts, but he is a rather careless chatterbox and is inclined to drool. The old Vikings in earlier times used the island to see the drooling, and thus came to this name, not knowing that all the time it was done by the cupola.

The friendly bell on the cupola which is continually whining with shivers is a short piece of rubber binder, fastened to the large fibrous body. The head is also a fibrous turned around the other way, with split navy bean ears and rice grain nose. The feet are cloves with popcorn toes, and the whistling mouth is put on with ink.

"Air Bumpitis" New Flyers' Affliction

Chapman, Wyo.—Traveling across the continent in a mail airplane is not as comfortable as riding the "soft cushions" of a railroad car, several pilots of the air mail service have learned.

A new malady has visited the pilots who traverse the Rocky mountains in daily flights—"air bumpitis." Its effects are bruises and sprains of the back and often the limbs.

Recently two pilots, after flying through a heavy wind and "rough weather" over the continental divide, were obliged to go to bed for a rest. The bumps, produced by air currents from mountainous terrain, probably are worse over the Rocky mountains than in any other section of the transcontinental mail route.

Profitable Mischance

One of the newest ventures in the world of a mischance. A big Paris designer made a coat for an American customer. By mistake it was delivered before the color was added. The buyer was extremely pleased with the effect and the designer never saw the result.

SUPREME COURT, ULSTER COUNTY.

In the matter of the application of Augustus Shufeldt, petitioner, for an order dissolving his marriage with Dorothy J. Shufeldt, respondent.

TO: Dorothy J. Shufeldt.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN YOU that a petition has been presented by Augustus Shufeldt to the Supreme Court of the State of New York and filed in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster and the 6th day of April, 1926, praying that the marriage between yourself and Augustus Shufeldt be dissolved on the ground that you have absented yourself for upwards of five years last past without being known to the said Augustus Shufeldt to be living, by reason of his absence, and he is presumed to be dead. This notice is given you by publication pursuant to an order made by the Supreme Court and duly filed and entered in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster on the 6th day of April, 1926, and please take further notice that a hearing will be held on the said petition before the Supreme Court at a Special Term thereof to be held in and for the County of Albany at the Court House in the City of Albany, N. Y., on the 12th day of June, 1926 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, and upon your failure to appear or answer said petition an order will be made by said court dissolving the marriage between yourself and said Augustus Shufeldt.

Dated at Kingston, N. Y., April 6, 1926.

Her Own Boss

Nan Halperin, vaudeville and musical comedy star, asked for a decree in Chicago courts, claiming desertion. The court believed her story and granted the request.

It takes the occasional rainy day to bring back to memory that proverbial handy umbrella.

"I can see your side all right," said the man, looking at the bathing beauty.

Our Own Definition.
Musical Comedy: An entertainment with no music and less comedy but still with plenty of legs to stand on.

We are now suffering from the high cost of loafing.

The trouble with the efforts to modernize Shakespeare is that the wrong play was selected for modernizing. Instead of "Hamlet," "Romeo and Juliet" should have been chosen. A good Juliet with rolled-down stockings would have made them hang out the S. R. O. sign regularly.

Hustle.
Boost a little every day.
Shake hands in the good old way.
Cheer the fellow that's all in.
Meet folks with a friendly grin.
When a hard task comes to you,
Go right at it till it's through.
Buckle in and never quit—
That's the way to show your grit.
Countless times a grand success
Has been won through stubbornness
Of the man who won't say fail
And he plods a rugged trail.
You can do it, so can I.
If we've got the grit to try,
Set our thoughts on the things worthwhile.
Work and hustle, wear a smile.

"Oh, look at the bathing suit."
"Where? I can't see it."
"Right over there behind that price tag."

If the President, Vice-President and all the members of the Cabinet should die, who would officiate? asked the teacher. Robert tried hard, but in vain, to think of the most reasonable until a happy thought struck him.
"The undertaker," he exclaimed.

Our Address Column.

REVIEWS SCHOOL GAINS IN 25 YEARS

Specialist Cites Advances in Vocational and Scientific Fields.

Washington.—James F. Abel, assistant specialist in foreign education systems of the United States bureau of education, in reviewing the advances made on education in the last quarter of a century, calls attention to the changes brought about by the war resulting in new countries and unmet needs in others. He says some of the new constitutions contain virtual educational bills of rights.

It is declared that reforms affecting entire systems of schools were attempted and carried out with more or less success by several of the large nations. The scope of education was almost doubled in breadth by the further inclusion of scientific and vocational training, a training for citizenship and services and its adoption by a number of countries as a matter of national promotion and support. Better care for the physical welfare of mankind through teaching children essential health habits, arranging games and athletics for all rather than a few, erecting finer school buildings to furnish good and pure air and insisting on medical inspection as a directive more than a defensive activity had their practical beginnings.

It is pointed out that on the continent of Europe alone twelve nations adopted new constitutions in the four-and-one-half year period between July, 1918, and December, 1922. "Nine of these were new nations whose people had long been subjected to a kind of denationalization through having their racial customs and traditions ignored," says Mr. Abel, "their religion suppressed and their native tongues more or less outlawed."

Gains in Colonies.

"They wrote into their constitutions a recognition of the right of national minorities to education in the mother tongue and to the development of their own racial literature and culture. Other clauses in another of the new constitutions amount to a veritable educational bill of rights. A uniform school system for all children, with special privileges for no social class, variations being permitted only for different vocational and local interests, is the common ideal."

"Colonial policies in education and their results have stood out in bold relief in this first quarter of the Twentieth century. As a part of the responsibilities which they assumed in consequence of the Spanish-American war, the United States set about the education of their new citizenry and rapidly developed in the Philippines and Porto Rico systems similar in plan to those in the continental states. In the Philippines they undertook to provide some 12,000,000 of people with a common language and through it a training that would mold these people into a self-reliant, self-dependent body. Philippine schools from kindergarten to university grade now enroll more than one and one-quarter millions of students and are maintained at a yearly cost of more than 23,000,000 pesos."

"In Porto Rico the government of the United States found a population at least 80 per cent illiterate, no public school buildings, elementary education provided for less than one-fifth of the school children and no instruction on the island in advanced grades or of quality sufficient to prepare a student for admission to a good college. Out of that situation a complete educational system has been wrought, reaching approximately one-fourth of a million students and costing annually about $4,000,000. Vastly more has been accomplished in 25 years in these two insular areas than was brought about in several centuries under a government neglectful of the place of education in wise colonial policies."

"Directors of education follow closely or accompany the governors general sent out to the colonies by the government of the British empire. Autonomous universities have grown apace in numbers and wealth through out most of its dominions in recent years. Cambridge and Oxford local examinations are held in many of the colonies as a way of opening to colonial attendance at British universities."

New Organizations Start.

"Engaging in and bringing to an end great military conflicts necessarily created new international contacts. These carried over into education and gave added impetus and force to generous policies such as were initiated by Cecil Rhodes. Considerably more than a hundred private organizations sprang up, most of them in the past decade, and they are carrying out their purposes in the promotion of one or another phase of education in international relationships. Several of these were world associations claiming no less than all nations and all peoples as their field for further mutual understanding and program in education. International exchange of students, teachers and research workers in the spirit of science and learning knew no political boundaries were established and is growing rapidly."

"The educational revival in Mexico was concerned with improving existing schools and establishing new ones, encouraging industrial and technical education, providing more libraries and books, gathering and conserving the historic and artistic material of the country, aiding poor children and relieving illiteracy. The ministry of public instruction was reorganized and reorganized and budgets far in excess of those for previous years were proposed and expended."

The Madness of Youth

IN the small town where she lived, Dolores Vane was considered an extremely pretty and popular girl. She was not only respected by the townspeople, but many a young man boldly wove her into his dreams of marriage while he shyly laid siege to her heart.

But Dolores also dreamed dreams. Never would she submit to the cheap thrill of a common, middle-class romance, when real romance, glittering and beautiful, awaited her in the big world of men.

So in spite of a mother's gentle protest, she set out for the big city—the promised land of excitement, romantic adventure and thrills. As she looked back later, she reflected sadly how much better it would have been had she stayed at home and married one of the true-hearted youths she had despised as "middle-class."

But like many another girl who refuses to listen to "those who know," Dolores' regrets came too late. Under the title, "The Easy Road," Dolores tells her pitiful story in True Story Magazine for June. It contains a warning lesson that every girl, every boy, should read. Remember the title, "The Easy Road," in True Story Magazine for June.

Other Thrilling True-Life Narratives In the June Issue are:

"The Girl Who Went West"—Said the doctor to Rose: "My dear, you must go West." So in the concealing darkness of a box-car—Rose went. Read what happened to her after she slid out of her hiding place four days later, two thousand miles from home.

"Unseeing Youth"—Just an innocent high-school love affair. Cynthia and Walter never dreamed that their secret meetings, their frequent deceptions to mislead anxiously watchful parents—could end in such bitter tragedy.

Scouts to Observe Mothers' Day

Girl Scouts of Ulster County Prepare For Proper Observance of National Day Which Occurs on Sunday.

All over the county of Ulster, believe the troop large or small, preparations are on foot to honor Mothers' Day by the various members of the Girl Scout troops.

It has been rather a question just what to do, and how to do it, without mothers' help, for in a great many instances it is mother who furnishes the cake for the cake sale, or the salad for the supper the Scouts are to hold. It has taken some scheming and planning, but in all cases a very lovely program has been worked out by the Scouts themselves.

A very pretty custom was established in Gardiner last year which will be carried out with more detail this year, and it was this: The Girl Scouts on Saturday picked wild flowers, made them into small bouquets and kept them nice and fresh over night, then on Sunday, Mothers' Day, in their uniforms, they stood at the entrance of the church after the service and as each woman known to be someone's mother came from the church she was presented with one of the bouquets of wild flowers. This was, of course, for all the mothers of Gardiner.

This would be impracticable for a large community, but from this idea something suitable to the particular place could be evolved.

One troop in the county is earning money to buy flowers for the mothers of the troop, other troops are entertaining the mothers at cards, another or so at a luncheon, and some just had their regular meeting and invited their mothers—but, of course, there were refreshments and a bit of a program afterwards, all in the hands of the girls.

Mothers' Day has been twenty years in the making, and the idea comes from a little town in Michigan. The first mother to have the day honored for her Mrs. Juliet Calhoun Blakesley of Albion, Michigan.
Her birthday is the 13th of May, and her son, Charles, who is now a resident of New York state, commenced sending her flowers on that day twenty years ago, then he picked out the Sunday nearest that day and arranged for a celebration of her birthday in which her friends and neighbors might join, and each one received a flower to wear. Then he had the minister of her church arrange a special sermon for that Sunday. After a time it became a fixed custom in that town, which afterwards spread over the United States, and in few years ago a Philadelphia woman won from congress the recognition of the second Sunday in May as Mothers' Day.

The Girl Scouts of Ulster county will continue to carry on this lovely custom and in some way honor their customers on or near the second Sunday in May. A Miss Jarvis was the woman who won the recognition of congress for this day, and of course, everyone knows that the carnation is the official flower for Mothers' Day. Any color may be chosen if she is still in this glad world and white to revere her memory.

PREDICTS QUAKE FOR CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, or its immediate vicinity, will experience a severe earthquake, probably more violent than that at San Francisco in 1906, in from one to ten years, Dr. Bailey Willis, the seismologist and professor emeritus of geology at Stanford, said.

Professor Willis stated three years ago that Santa Barbara would feel severe earth tremors, a prophecy that was fulfilled in the past summer. He bases his present prediction upon the fact that Los Angeles is situated in an angle between Elsinore and San Gabriel faults and at this time a severe strain is resting upon them, which must be relieved in the near future.

The last severe earthquake in southern California was in 1857, and since then there has been almost prolonged quiet, broken by slight shocks in 1893 and 1918. The Santa Barbara earthquake last summer was purely local and did not relieve the general strain, Doctor Willis said.

The faults in southern California are undergoing a severe strain was shown, the professor asserted, by a triangulation recently resurveyed by the United States coast and geodetic survey, which showed that Garlock peak, near Santa Barbara, had moved twenty-four feet in thirty years.

Doctor Willis stated that northern California does not need to fear a severe shock for at least a generation to come.—New York Times.

BREADS AND BISCUITS AS 3 EXPERT COOKS MAKE THEM

(Ed. Note: This is one of a series of articles on cooking which are contributed to this paper.)

Bread can be much more than the uninteresting, prosaic "stuff of life." It can be made so delicious that you eat it because you want to, not because you think you ought to.

Famous cooks have unearthed many delicious bread and biscuit recipes from various parts of the country for you. Follow their recipes for pleasing variety in breads.

Easy Bran Muffins

Mrs. Rorer, the Philadelphia cooking expert, recommends her bran muffins for breakfast. They are very nutritious and healthful," she says. "One might paraphrase the old saying into a bran muffin a day keeps the doctor away. It would hold just as true.

"These muffins are easily made," she affirms. "Beat one egg, add a cup of milk, a half teaspoon salt, one tablespoonful sugar, and one tablespoonful melted butter. Sift one cupful flour with three level teaspoons baking powder, and bake in a hot oven, in greased gem pans, for 20 minutes."

Nuts for Nourishment

Mrs. Rorer has a very appetizing and nourishing nut bread, too.
Here's how to make it:

Chop enough pecans to make a half cupful. Put two cupfuls flour in a bowl, add four level teaspoons of baking powder, half a teaspoon salt, and two tablespoons of sugar, and sift. Mix in the nuts.
Beat one egg, add one cupful of milk, mix and add the flour. Beat well and turn at once into a greased bread pan.

Let stand 10 minutes. Light oven
3 minutes before bread is light.
Bake half an hour at medium heat.
Raisins may be substituted for nuts.
Nut bread makes very good sandwiches if spread with butter. Cream cheese may also be used for a simple, delicious filling.

Southern Corn Bread

Corn bread, that favorite of the South, is another nutritious change from the every-day white bread.
Made with the recipe of Miss Rosa Michaelis, famous New Orleans cook, it's a welcome part of any meal.
Here are the ingredients:

1/2 cup of sugar
4 cups cornmeal
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs
2 tablespoons baking powder
1 1/2 tablespoons shortening
2 cups water (or milk, or the two mixed)
Sift corn meal, salt, sugar, and baking powder together. Add water or milk. Add yolks of eggs and shortening which has been heated.
Add stiffly beaten whites of eggs.
Put into a greased pan, and bake in hot oven. This can be served with butter or with syrup.

Real Biscuits

If you have a patient right arm, you are bound to make successful biscuits. This is another old southern recipe of Miss Michaelis.

1 quart flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 pint of milk
1 teaspoon salt

Sift dry ingredients. Then add the shortening and blend by using the fingers—rub until smooth; add gradually the liquid and knead all together till the dough is formed.
Should be a rather stiff dough. Then lay the dough on a biscuit board and beat with rolling pin half an hour.
Knead lightly and beat again for ten minutes, till air bubbles form all over the dough. Then roll out and cut with cutter to any shape and stick top here and there with fork.
Bake in moderate oven about fifteen minutes or till top and bottom are a light brown.

Use Oranges

Orange muffins are just the thing for breakfast. Toasted, they are delicious to serve with afternoon tea.
Mrs. Belle DeGraff, San Francisco, formerly with the Pacific Coast Branch of the New York Cooking
School, gives this delectable recipe:

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup orange juice
Grated rind of one orange

Beat eggs and add liquid. Sift and combine dry ingredients. Add melted shortening and first mixture.
Beat in orange juice and rind. Bake in moderate oven about 25 minutes.

You may serve a different bread or biscuit every meal. These recipes are especially helpful to women with the lunch problem, as different sandwich fillings may be used with all but the beaten biscuit with good results.

ROSE-GORMAN-ROSE

What 30 Years of Cooking taught Mrs. Rorer about Stoves

By MRS. SARAH TYSON RORER
Philadelphia Cooking Expert

"I PREFER oil stoves to any other kind. I speak from the fullness of 30 years' experience with them. Oil is clean, economical, and dependable. It saves a world of work. No coal or wood to carry in, no ashes to carry out. And no dust.

"I have just completed a special experiment on the 1926 model Perfection Oil Stove, testing it under all possible cooking conditions.
I cooked many meals in my own kitchen.
Every dish was deliciously cooked."

Immediate Cooking

"Steak began to broil and my molasses cake began to rise almost as soon as I lighted the burners. There was no waiting for the heat to 'come up.'

"The bottom of every utensil used in the experiment was as clean as a china dish. No scouring was necessary. Those long Perfection chimneys certainly are insurance against sooty kettles.

All at the Same Time

"I cooked many things at once.
For boiling beef I used a very low flame. I French-fried potatoes over a hot flame with yellow tips about 1 1/2 inches high above the blue area. I cooked white sauce over a medium flame.

"I used all grades of heat at the same time satisfactorily.

All flames remained steady and even. They did not creep or 'crawl.' This is a real blessing to the cook. She can forget her stove and keep her mind on her cooking.

"Very Well Satisfied"

"Altogether I was very well satisfied with the Perfection Stove. And, my good opinion of oil stoves has increased, if that is possible."

thusiastic about the 1926 Perfection, too. And

RADIO

Wave Trap Will Cut Out Loud Locals—The Conductively Couple Form and the Inductively Coupled.

Due to the widespread increase in power of many of our broadcasting stations, the need for some sort of apparatus capable of cutting out strongly interfering stations, is becoming felt more and more. There is not much fun in sitting through the program of one particular station night after night, especially when a better program is being offered by some other station which is drowned out by the nearer or more powerful transmitter. "Interfering signals," writes Howard E. Rhodes in the Radio Broadcast magazine, "sometimes are caused by direct pickup by the coils of the set so that its natural selectivity is of no avail in eliminating them. This occurs when the set is being operated in proximity to a broadcasting station, with the result that the field strength in the vicinity is great enough to induce currents directly in the various coils of the receiver. Under these conditions it will be found possible to hear the program with the antenna disconnected."

"The only practical methods to be used in eliminating this type of interference are either shielding of the receiver or using some form of closed-field coil, such as a toroid. If the set is to be shielded, it is necessary to line the entire inside of the cabinet, including the cover and the panel, with this copper. Any joints in the copper sheet are soldered together and connection is finally made between the shield and the minus A terminal which, in this instance, is connected to ground. This puts the entire shield at ground potential, thereby excluding from the coils any external electrical fields. It should also be pointed out that this shielding will also eliminate any interference caused by power lines, motors, etc., provided they are causing trouble by setting up currents directly in the coils. However, if the interference is reaching the set by way of the antenna system, shielding will be no aid. The use of toroid coils is coming into very common use in instances where there is need of an inductor that is unaffected by external fields."

Why Toroid Coil is Favored.

The gist of Mr. Rhodes' explanation why the toroid type of coil is recommended for use where ordinary coils will cause broad tuning by their pick-up qualities, is as follows: Toroid coils will, as is the case with other coils, have induced in their turns currents which ordinarily would nullify the selective qualities of a receiver. However, the voltages induced in opposite halves of the coil, oppose each other, and the resultant effective pick-up voltage is zero. This nullifying feature is apparent in several other types of coils, but is probably more so in the toroid. The article in Radio Broadcast continues as follows:

"There is a second type of interfering signal that causes considerable trouble, and against this type the two cures so far described are useless. If the signals being induced in the antenna are sufficiently strong, it is possible that a receiver may not have a selectivity sharp enough to eliminate them completely, although its selectivity under ordinary conditions may be perfectly satisfactory. For instance, the receiver might be operated at a location quite close to a powerful broadcasting station so that the signal strength from this station in comparison with the strength of the signals that it is desired to receive from other stations is so great as to produce considerable interference, even though the receiver is considerably detuned from the interfering signal. It is apparent then, that, in some way, this powerful signal must be impeded so as to decrease its strength. The most common piece of apparatus for use in this connection is the so-called wave trap which is actually a filter circuit tuned to absorb the interfering signals. These wave traps are very easily constructed, and cost little. They consist merely of an ordinary coil and a condenser. The traps are connected in the antenna circuit and are adjusted so that, at the frequency of the interfering signal, they have a very high impedance, the exact value depending on whether the coil is connected in series or parallel with the antenna.

Good Green Indicator

To make an excellent green indicator, boil one ounce of soap, first melting it in one quart of soft water; add one teaspoonful of salt and one and a half ounces of ammonia. Keep this fluid in a well-corked bottle.

Juror Becomes Ill in Court

Charles Schipp, who is in attendance at the May term of Supreme court as a juror, became ill in the court room Wednesday afternoon and was assisted by court officers from the room. Dr. H. P. Van Wagenen was summoned. Mr. Schipp has not been in good health for some time and a few weeks ago while attending court suffered a similar, but more severe, attack. After resting for a time he was able to proceed to his home accompanied by friends.

MARLBOROUGH.

Marlborough, May 6.—Miss Helen Berkery has returned home after a week's visit with friends and relatives in New York city.

Edward Gilbride of Poughkeepsie spent the week end with Edward McCarthy.

Mrs. Eli Masten is now able to be up after several days' confinement to her bed as a result of a fall on the stairs and injury to her knee.

Mrs. John Splain is confined to her home with a sprained ankle.

James F. Hannigan spent the week end in Bridgeport, Conn.

Mrs. Holly returned to her home in Kingston after a week's visit with Mrs. James McGowan.

Mrs. Mark Wade and son, Mark, Jr., of Lancaster, Penn., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Haberle.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Simpson and daughter, and Mrs. Simpson's mother, Mrs. Porath, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simpson in Highland.

The Rev. Father Hanley, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, attended confirmation in St. Francis's Church in Newburgh on Saturday morning. There was a class of 250 principally children and members of the congregation. Cardinal Hayes administered the sacrament of confirmation. After the ceremony, Cardinal Hayes and a number of other clergymen motored to New Windsor where Cardinal Hayes dedicated the new college, the Epiphany Apostolic College.

Preparation for installation of the new water main on White street will be made this week and the water commissioners are looking for men to assist them with the necessary digging. The new lines will provide water for residents on the street running from Western avenue to Birdsall avenue.

Another one of those jolly dances which everyone enjoys will be given by the Junior Class of Marlborough High School the evening of Friday, May 7. This good time is given to raise money for the Junior Class in order that they may go to New York city on a sightseeing trip. This will account for the rise in the price of tickets. The committee promises a good time. The dance will be held in St. Mary's Hall, with the famous Roseland Serenaders orchestra.

The members of the Nighthawk Club enjoyed a roast ham supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Staples on Wednesday night. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steffens, Sara Steffens, John Steffens, Mr. and Mrs. Phreton, Baxter and son, Carl, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Staples and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allen DeWitt and son, Hunter DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Wischoff and son, Alex.

H. C. Cooley is in St. Luke's hospital where he was taken by Dr. David Mosher Monday evening for treatment and possibly an operation. He returned last week after spending the winter in Florida and is now making his home in Newburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hepworth arrived home Friday evening from Miami, Fla., where they spent the winter. Mr. Hepworth sent friends Miami's weather report for April 24, showing the minimum temperature 71 and maximum 82.

The regular April meeting of Marlborough W. C. T. U. was held Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Hattie Valentine. An account of last week's county institute was to be given.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Alverson's three children are confined to their home with measles.

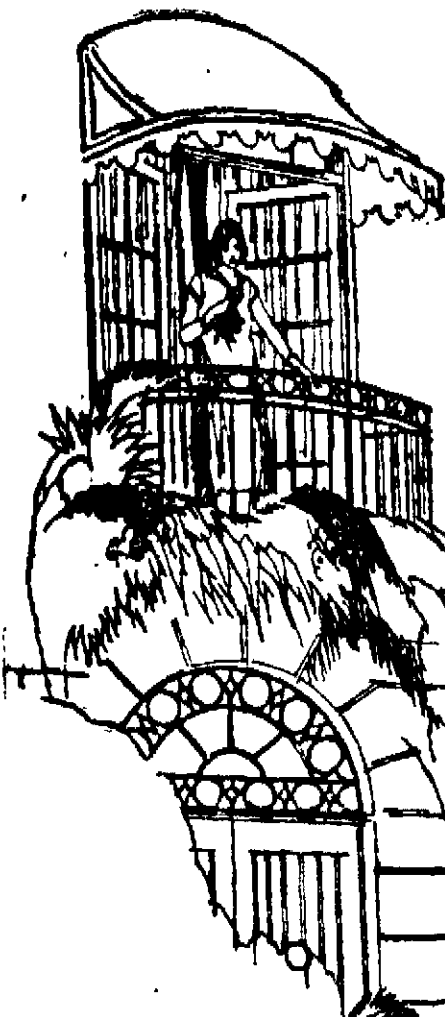

Marlborough is to have a regular troupe of players if plans formulated Tuesday evening bear fruit. Meeting with I. H. V. Dickinson as host, a group of young people of the village informally organized "The Marlborough Players" and outlined a spring and fall program with Mr. and Mrs. Will Planch, Miss Ida Durand and Mr. Dickinson as sponsors. The little group will this spring present one or two act plays and prepare for a production of a full three act comedy early in the fall. The earlier production will be presented privately. It is planned at present, but next year's work will lead to regular performances perhaps for the benefit of various community projects. Those composing the players at present beside the sponsors are Miss Mabel Benjamin, Miss Flossy Mackey, Miss Lauretta Steinbach, Miss Nellie Tutbill, John Batton, Ralph Lockwood and Earl Mackey. A few others are expected to join the informal group later.

The Kalchis of Columbus have announced the dates of their annual series of summer dances. The first dance will be held on May 29, and the others in the order given: June 5, 12, 19, 26, July 3, 10, 17, 24, 31, August 7, 14, 21, 28 and September 4.

The long waited deal work on the chlorine plant in the Marlborough village reservoir has now been done and the chlorinator is in working order. It was first put to use Saturday night. As has been previously reported the completion of the work began long ago was delayed through no fault of the local commissioners or those who installed the plant, but through delay on the part of the company from whom the equipment was secured. Not only was the chlorine plant put in operation, but other improvements taken for purifying the water. On Saturday blue vitrol was put into the reservoir before the chlorine was started. Wednesday morning the water through the village was thoroughly shocked and cleaned and all mud and dirt removed. Marlborough will now welcome the news that their water is to be even purer, and in other ways improved this summer, as ex-

AGAIN BLACK SATIN COATS ARE MODISH AND POPULAR

LIKE the return of an old friend, rejuvenated and chic—after a long vacation, the black satin coat of this season makes its entry—everywhere there is awaiting it a feast of a thousand welcomes. Black satin coats, following all the modish new ideas of the hour and stressing particularly the use of summer furs in colors and trimmings, have returned in force; whole windows in the big apparel shops are given over to their display, showing them developed in straight lines and flaring models, and with all the variations in collars, sleeves, fastenings and other details that characterize the fashionable coat of the spring season.

Nothing quite equals black satin, in the crepe satin weaves, for the new flared skirt lines in coats and cape and jabot effects which are so graceful and chic; therefore a good proportion of the late models embodies these style points. An example of the flared silhouette is shown in the picture in a coat with deep revers and the popular side fastening. Its fur collar, in light gray squirrel, holds its own with many other collars of similar shape, made of white ermine, but the displays emphasize the distinction of black and white by many models in which ermine is used for collars and—with much restraint—in trimming touches.

Far collars are not confined to squirrel or white ermine by any means. Summer ermine and furs that imitate it, and dyed squirrel provide a choice of color in the short-haired furs, and white fox contributes its soft becomingness also.

That Two Colors Are Better Than One in the Freckle Scheme of Things and That One of Them Is Apt to Be Navy.

The time has come, as the wairess said once so feelingly, on another matter, to talk more about clothes for out of town than in. Everyone is on the wing more or less. If one is not in need of stay-at-home clothes to wear about house and garden, they are in urgent need of travel togs, and making inquiries about the climate in strange places and what sort of thing one may need for the trip or visit. There are certain things one must always have—a smart coat to slip on over a dress, or if one is very particular about being up to the minute, over a suit, the short jacketed, feminine little suits which are holding their own even against an influx of mannish ones. Skirts, as everyone must know, continue to be short, but they continue also to be considerably fuller, either pleated or in some circular vein, and there is a very fetching fad of having false hems, or bands of contrasting material, matched up possibly with bands which edge the jacket. With these little warm weather suits there are gilets, or really sleeveless blouses of all sorts of materials, from reps to rayon, some of them having a single row of pearl or self colored buttons beginning under the chin and ending below the waistline, the high, straight collar being one of the rather formidable changes in fashion seems determined to bring about. The sleeveless blouse is really not intended to be worn without the coat and is intended really as a waistcoat.

Mothers of growing children

Do you know which are growth foods and why?

Mother's Oats with milk, a cup each, furnishes 23% or nearly one-fourth of the daily need of the one essential which contributes more to growth than any other one element in food—the tissue building substance called protein after the Greek word "proteuo," meaning "to hold first place."

MOTHERS everywhere, child health specialists declare, should have a better understanding of the growth years.

The very laws of child growth make the growing period the most formative of all the years—the great determining time.

The physical fitness and stability of after years depend much upon natural growth during these earlier years.

Growth foods for the growth years should, therefore, be the special concern of mothers; foods that are definitely known to possess the growth and health promoting elements that these years require.

Mother's Oats has another great advantage too, which many other grains as they come to you do not possess. . . . It is made by its careful millers out of the natural whole grain.

Two kinds now at grocers; Quick Mother's Oats (cooks in 3 to 5 minutes) and Mother's Oats as always.

WHY, WHEN AND WHERE OF FASHIONS.

Gold Gitters Again.

One Saturday, more than 2,100 years ago, Mr. Archimedes took his customary bath when suddenly the peaceful air of balmy Sicily was rent by his cry "eureka." While immersed in water he found means to detect mined gold from pure and thus tell his king that the new crown just delivered by the court jeweler was a substitute. Ever since this first recorded fraud in goldsmithing rascals and legislators were kept busy in protecting the unsuspecting buyer from such abuses. The ancient Romans knew the art of making red gold, but during the Middle Ages even the coloring of this precious metal was forbidden. Records show, for instance, that in 1349 a goldsmith was put in the pillory for selling such wares.

It was in 1745 that Mme. de Pompadour "arrived" and her influence changed even gold jewelry. Gold called "a quatre couleurs" became suddenly the rage because it was produced in four different colors by adding silver, copper or iron or coloring it in its natural state. Colored gold jewelry again appears in rather poor effects and designs, about 100 years ago. Lately gold had again returned to its former favor in jewelry.

Agents Make Raid At Eddyville

Charles Zeaman's Place Visited by Revenue Agents Who Claim They Found Still and Apple Whiskey in Barn—Other Cases Before Commissioner Connolly.

Revenue Agents McCoy and Mulholland on Wednesday staged a raid at Charles Zeaman's on the Fly Mountain road at Eddyville, where they seized a 10 gallon still which they found in the barn on the premises. They also allege they found a quantity of mash and some apple whiskey. Zeaman appeared before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly this morning and an adjournment was taken until next Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Judge Harry E. Schrick appeared for Zea-man.

The adjourned hearing in the case of the Messrs. Barza, Muriello and Naprowski, who were arrested by the agents at the Green Shingle Inn on the Saugerties road near Lake Katrine last week, also came up before Commissioner Connolly. When arraigned before the commissioner last week they demanded a hearing.
This morning they were represented by R. V. Ellsworth and after an examination all were held in $500 bail to appear in U. S. District Court. All three are charged with having illegal liquor in their possession and also in selling.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 6.—The stock market was the dullest and most uninteresting section of the financial district today. Outside of the purely professional activities in the speculative favorites there were no developments of special interest on the "Big Board." Price trends were decidedly mixed, with utility stocks and coppers ready, oils reactionary and rails entirely featureless.

Trading today was in about the same volume of yesterday, which set a record for contracted stock selling for nearly two years.

Sales in the first three hours averaged 120,000 shares an hour, the equivalent of a 600,000-share day.

Professionals and pools in the specialty stocks, the motors and a few of the public utility issues marked up prices a point or two to compel short covering or to attract outside buying. Freeport, Texas and other of the newcomers to the active list sold up to the highest points on the movement. Simms Petroleum displayed acute weakness in the independent oil list and declined to the year's low price of 19 1/2. Texas and Pacific Land Trust, the highest priced stock on the board, jumped 45 points to $50. Radio Corporation gained 2 points.

Both the grain and cotton markets displayed a stronger tone than in the last two sessions, cotton advancing about 40 points in the late trading on reports of unsettled weather in the cotton belt and an improved demand from the textile.

Hospital Day At the Benedictine

The Benedictine Hospital will observe National Hospital Day on Wednesday, May 12, by welcoming all visitors to the hospital so as to give them more intimate acquaintance with hospital work, and will conclude the day's observance with an entertainment in the evening at St. Mary's School Hall, which will be followed by dancing.

The entertainment will be unique in character, emphasizing certain features of the nurses' work, their importance in the life of every community and the opportunities offered for usefulness in their profession.
The entertainment will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The Benedictine Hospital has been visited by more people during the past few months than ever before, due to the fact that it has been filled all of the time not only with patients who went there for treatment but also with the patients of the Kingston City Hospital who were removed there after the Kingston City Hospital fire in February, and who remained there until recently.

About the Folks

Thomas Feeney of Brooklyn, formerly of this city has been visiting relatives in town.

Miss Lottie E. Jones of Washington, D. C., is spending a few days leave at her home, 707 Broadway.

Thomas Hyland of 287 West Chestnut street has returned from a visit to his niece, Mrs. John L. Miller at Montclair, N. J.

The birth of a son, Richard, Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dunn of No. 85 Garden street, has been reported to the board of health.

Ensign Edward Gallagher of the United States Navy has returned to his duties after an extended visit with his mother, Mrs. Sara T. Gallagher on Delaware avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Connolly and son, John of Riverdale, Md., are visiting at the home of Mr. Connelly's mother, 287 West Chestnut street. Mr. Connolly is connected with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Miss M. Helen Freer, who was operated upon recently at the Kingston City Hospital, is now at her home, 29 Franklin street. Miss Freer was conveyed from the hospital to her home in E. L. Mower's private ambulance.

A daughter was born to Harry Mills Grinton and Mrs. Grinton at Columbus, Ohio, on May 5. They have named her Mary Mills. Mr.
Grinton is the only child of the Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Grinton and has many friends in Kingston.

Entire Space for Theatre Purposes

Walter Reade, of Reade's Kingston Theatre, conferred with his architect, Gerard W. Betz, on Tuesday and decided to eliminate the small stores on Crown street as called for in the plans now in the hands of the contractors. In place of these stores the stage will be moved back to Crown street and this additional space will be added to the auditorium. The present seating in the rear of the auditorium for approximately 20 feet deep and the full width of the auditorium will be removed and this space will be utilized for a large lounge and promenade. Mr. Reade prefers to sacrifice the rental derived from these stores in order to make his Kingston theatre equal to the others built by him in other cities.

Arrangements have been made to operate the theatre during the time the alterations are in progress.

All estimating is being done by local contractors who have been notified to hand in their estimates on May 12 so that work may be started promptly.

The

Rickard-Harmon War Is Raging

Midwest Influences Prepares to Run Tex Rickard Out of Chicago—Harmon Is Said to Be Bigger Than Tex.

New York, May 6.—According to information reaching the writer from reliable sources today, the inevitable Rickard-Harmon war for the control of boxing in Chicago has reached the stage of open hostilities at last.

Evidently Rickard counts that day lost whose low descending sun does not find him locked in a deathless vendetta with a body of men completely surrounded by animosity. Last week, it was the State Athletic Commission, or rather Chairman James A. Farley, who threatened to hand Rickard by the heels unless he renounced the Dempsey compact. Today, the good word was that middle west influences were conspiring to run the gentlemen out of Chicago. It might be mentioned that when it comes to running Rickard is almost as fast as an empty pants leg.

One of the first items of information Rickard is said to have passed on to his directors last week upon his return from the west was that he had taken the annual Chicago six-day bicycle race away from Paddy Harmon. This, it is true, means war to the death.

He might have taken Paddy's tooth brush or his right to wear sleeve garters and it is possible that all would have remained serene. But Harmon and the six-day race seem to have become a Chicago institution and, if you think this means nothing, you probably are unaware of the fact that Harmon is reckoned a bigger man in Cook county than Rickard is on Broadway.

Reprisals would seem to be the natural consequence and possibly one of those was the announcement from Chicago that Rickard's proposed site for an arena had been killed by a rush of publicity to the head. However, the promoter's story to the directors was that he had abandoned the original site in favor of one within three minutes ride of the loop.

Rickard may lose one of these hand-to-hand combats some day but the writer wouldn't care about betting any serious money on it. However, one setback might serve to

K. of C. to Play At Saugerties

All baseball players who have signed to play with the Knights of Columbus in the Twilight League are requested to be at the Kingston Fair Grounds Friday evening at 6:30 for practice. This will be the last practice session for the Knights before they open up their regular season Sunday afternoon at Saugerties. The Saugerties team were beaten last Sunday by the All Stars. But reports for the up-river village state that they have signed some new men and are all set to give the Cascas a trimmings. Both clubs have a lot of admirers and it is expected that the largest crowd of the season will be on hand when the game is called at 3:30 o'clock.

Manager McNally has announced the following schedule for the Cascas: Sunday, May 9, K. of C. at Saugerties. Tuesday, May 11, K. of C. vs. Kantiowitz Club at Fair Grounds. Thursday, May 13, K. of C. at Rhinecliff.

Thursday, May 20, K. of C. vs. Kingston All Stars at Fair Grounds. Saturday, May 22, K. of C. at Rhinecliff.

ST. MARY'S BEAT THE WILBUR SLUGGERS

Tuesday afternoon at the Abell street baseball park the St. Mary's altar boys defeated the Wilbur Sluggers by a score of 5 to 2. Lenihan on the mound for St. Mary's allowed five hits and had ten strikeouts. The score:

Wilbur Sluggers 0 0 0 1 0 1 0—2
St. Mary's A. B. 3 0 0 2 1 0 x—6
Batteries were Lenihan and Noonan for St. Mary's. Altar Boys and Sweeney and Kiernan for losers.

shake the faith of those who have supported him lavishly with their money and influence and Rickard can get along without either.

Still, he seems to be more firmly seated in the saddle now than ever before. There are men far bigger than boxing tied up in the Rickard enterprises and he can afford to seek a showdown with any and all rivals, at least in New York. He knows he cannot go wrong here, having been on the winning side of every promotional war since he first came into New York to take over Madison Square Garden while a lot of so-called smart ones were gazing fixedly at the distant sky line.

He even seems to have the Stoneham crowd licked to a whisper and the Giants' owner is said to be just as influential as a loaded revolver.

That's how big Rickard is and they say Harmon is bigger. Really, a fine tune should be had by all.

Tagging Major League Bases

The Athletics took their third straight from the Yankees, 5 to 3, despite homers by Ruth and Meusel. The A's have put three Yankee aces out of business and Miller Huggins now holds nothing but a bob-tailed straight.

Detroit slaughtered the White Sox, 14 to 7. Wingo put the game in cold storage by piling a homer in the ninth with three on.

St. Louis Sluggers finally came to life in the last inning of a game with Cleveland and pounded out eight runs to win by 11 to 5.

With Sam Rice collecting as many hits as the whole Boston team, the Senators had little difficulty in downing the Red Sox, 11 to 0, behind the airtight pitching of Coveleskie. It was Boston's third straight defeat by the Senators and put the Sox in the cellar.

Playing the brand of ball that got a new limousine for Barney Dreyfuss last fall, the Pirates nosed out the Braves, 3 to 2. Lee Meadows outpitched Bob Smith and was aided by Cuyler's homer.

Red Lucas won again for the Reds, defeating the Cardinals 6 to 1. Six of Cincinnati's seven hits were extra base wallop.

Kingston High School Notes

Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Kingston High School for the first time meets in an inter-school track meet in this city when it competes with Lansingburg High School of Troy. Coach O'Leary has been coaching the students all season and is confident that they will do their best to come out victorious.

Lincoln-Douglas. Wednesday the last meeting of the Lincoln-Douglas for this year was held and the following officers elected: Joseph Block, president; John Thompson, vice-president; and Joseph Kaslich, secretary-treasurer.

Debating Club Banquet. Wednesday, May 12, the debating clubs of the high school will hold a banquet in the Girls' lunch room at 6:30. Members of the debating clubs and faculty are eligible to come. Please sign up before May 10.

Industrial Game Tonight. The Kingston Gas & Electric and Silk Mills play their first game in the Industrial Baseball League tonight at the Athletic Field. Game starts 6:30 o'clock sharp.

Standard Oil Beat Municipal

Bob Corrigan of the Standard Oil was too much for the Municipal Nine Wednesday evening at the Athletic Field, holding them to four hits and four runs, while his teammates were pounding Jimmy Baker and O'Neil for 13 hits and 16 runs.

The Oilmen went right after Baker in the first inning and before he knew what it was all about they had scored five runs. Shultis walked, Williams singled to right, and Hasbrouck cleaned up with a four base clout. Cragan tripled, Hill singled to left and Kline tripled to left. Baker was then taken out and O'Neil went in to twirl. He struck out Vining and Hyatt was an easy out on a grounder to Collins, who threw him out at first. He then walked Corrigan and Shultis, and Williams sent them home with a double along the right field line. The first inning proved to be enough to win the game.

SIDE-LINERS. Borbo, an old timer was on the receiving end for the City, and was in there all the time.

The Socony boys don't believe in waiting, they go right after them from the start.

Jimmy Baker must have thought the Yankee's Murderer's Row was in there hitting.

The K. G. & E. and Silk Mills perform tonight. Either Doyle or Van Aken will pitch for the Casmen, with Kennedy working for the Silk Mills. The score:

National League. Equal Vote For Kaplan.

New York, May 6.—It was announced today by Scotty Mentheth that Louis KM Kaplan, featherweight champion, had purchased Mentheth's managerial interest in the KMA's activities for $10,000.

Mentheth had jointly managed Kaplan with Donnie McMahon but disunion over the making of the champion's vacation caused the local boxing man to withdraw. McMahon, Kaplan will have an equal vote with McMahon in his own matchmaking.

Remember To Refuse This.

New York, May 6.—Arrangements have been completed for Charley Phil Rosenberg to defend his world's heavyweight title against Red New River of Hamilton, Ont. It was announced today. They will meet at Toronto on May 21 in a fifteen-round bout at the Madison Square Ball of 110 pounds.

Two Convicts Are Captured

Two Lenore Police Officers and One Citizen Wounded in Battle With Desperadoes—Three Others Surrounded in Woods.

Chicago, May 6.—Two of the seven convicts who escaped from the state penitentiary at Joliet late yesterday after they had killed Deputy Warden Peter Kiels, were wounded and captured and three others were surrounded in a woods near Lenore, Ill., following an all night battle with police and citizens of Lenore, according to reports reaching here this morning.

Two Lenore police officers and one citizen, members of the posse, were wounded, perhaps fatally, in the battle with the desperadoes.

The first convict taken had been shot fifteen times, but was alive on reaching the hospital. He is not expected to recover. The two police officers also may die. The second bandit captured, as yet unidentified, was less seriously wounded.

Five of the desperadoes were serving life sentences for murder; the other two had been given long terms for robbery.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Elizabeth Knodel died this morning at her home in Rifton. Funeral from the late residence Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment in Montrepose cemetery, this city.

Mrs. Clarence L. Benson of this city received word this morning of the death of her mother, Mrs. Ida Bishop Houghtaling, wife of Nathaniel Houghtaling, of Springfield, Mass., formerly of this city. Mrs. Houghtaling is survived by her husband and three daughters, Mrs. E. E. Stone of Boston, Mass., Mrs. Benson of this city and Miss Natalie Houghtaling of Springfield. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The funeral of Mrs. Anna Minasian, wife of Minas Minasian, was held from the late home, 73 Gage street, Wednesday morning at 8:30 and at 9 from St. Mary's Church. Dean Scully officiated and also accompanied the cortege to St. Mary's Cemetery. There were a large number of relatives and friends and also a great number of floral contributions. The bearers were Peter Jaregian, Peter Katchegian, James Minasian, Halgo Sarian, Stephen Cramer and James Gallagher.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Avery, wife of Jeremiah Avery, was held from her late home at Connelly Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 and was largely attended by her many friends and neighbors. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which she was held. The services were in charge of the Rev. John Anthony of this city and a former pastor of the Connelly M. E. Church. The bearers were members of the family and the interment was in the family plot in Port Ewen Cemetery.

Kills Real Estate Dealer.

Hamilton, O., May 6.—William Quest, 50, wealthy College Corner real estate dealer, was shot and killed by Clive Vessler, 34, during an argument today on the Quest Farm at Okeana, 16 miles south of here. Vessler surrendered to Sheriff Luther Epperson and was lodged in jail here. Vessler's wife and five children witnessed the tragedy. They said Quest tried to eject them from the farm.

Charged With Drowning Baby.

New York, May 6.—Charged with drowning her newborn baby in a tub of water, Mrs. Loretta Sellman, 40, mother of five other children, is a prisoner in Harlem Hospital today. A neighbor, hearing the infant's cries, ran into the Sellman apartment and saw Mrs. Sellman holding her child's head under the water, police alleged.

"Loneliest Man" Suicides.

New York, May 6.—Frank Havicek, known on New York's East Side as "the loneliest man in town," committed suicide today by inhaling gas in his apartment on East Thirtieth street. Beside his body Havicek had placed a huge doll which he always referred to as his "baby" before friends.

More Demand for Silk.

The silk-weaving industry in France is largely concentrated in the region around Lyons and the departments of the Isere and the Loire. Weaving looms total 50,000, of which slightly more than half are mechanically operated. This industry has shown a rapid increase in the department of Isere during the last 15 years, 24 new silk-weaving establishments having been set up and the number of looms increased by 40 per cent.

World's Rarest Stamp.

The rarest stamp in the world is the 1 cent British Guiana of 1856. Only one specimen is known to exist. In this year the postal authorities in British Guiana ran short of stamps, and temporarily supplied the lack by having a crude design of a ship, around which they placed the necessary lettering, printed in a local office. This stamp was sold recently for $20,000.

Mrs. Vinal Lefever, Mrs. Edward Bishop, Miss Mary F. Bishop, Mrs. Webster Munson, Mrs. Martin Schleede and Mrs. Calvin Cutler, who attended the state convention of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty at Binghamton this week, have returned to their homes.

Monday evening, May 10, at 8 o'clock a comedy, "Twelve Old Maids," will be given in the assembly room of the Methodist Church under the auspices of the Pearl Gatherers of Clinton Avenue M. E. Sunday school. Cast of characters: Mrs. Beamer, boarding house mistress; Mrs. A. Claffin; Lisa Pearl, maid; Miss Edna Merritt; Madame Zerkler, fortune teller.

Mrs. D. Sever; Miss Lizzie Lidy, who is very tidy; Selina Zook, an A. I. cook; Mrs. E. Herrick; Matilda Finn, rather thin; Miss Anna Taylor; Juliana Rowell, rather stout.

Elbet McWade, the poetical maid; Mary Ann Fleece, wants her rights; Mrs. G. F. Ficker; Nancy Weaver, from Flanders; Mrs. R. Weeks; Mrs. Kate O'Finn, who is to be here; Mrs. C. F. Avinger.

Loretta McCann, wants a man; Miss Kathryn Davis; Cerlithy Flagg, does nothing but sing; Mrs. O. Wood; Lucindy Toole, who elocutes; Miss Georgeanna G. Claffin; Eliza Neff, awful deaf; Mrs. J. Schoonmaker; The Mystic Orphan, wooden man; Victor Taylor.

This is a rare treat and no one should miss seeing this comedy. Proceeds for the benefit of the Port Ewen M. E. Sunday school. Mrs. Bertha Spinnweber, deputy of Tannersville Temple of Pythian Sisters, Mrs. Name Beale, Clara Spinnweber, Edwin Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howe, Mrs. Lyman Ellsworth, Mrs. Lester Ferguson and Mrs. Warren K. Van Vleet attended the meeting at Tannersville Tuesday evening.

FRANK BROWN TO HANDLE NEW HEADLIGHT

Appointment of Frank L. Brown as representative of the E. & J. Type 26 headlight for Kingston is announced by the Edmunds & Jones Corporation of Detroit, for 26 years the world's largest manufacturer of quality motor lamps.

"We believe this Type 26 lamp, which is designed to fit any car, is the last answer to the problem of proper road illumination for motor cars," Mr. Brown says.

The light complies in all ways with existing laws and is positively non-glaring, although it has sufficient power to illuminate the road for a distance of 300 feet. No more candle power is necessary than for ordinary lamps.

American Indian Legends and Songs

Both delightfully interwoven in Unique Entertainment Held Under Auspices of Willwyck Chapter, D. A. R.

A remarkably delightful and thoroughly unique entertainment was given at the chapel of the First Reformed Church on Wednesday evening under the auspices of Willwyck Chapter, D. A. R., by Miss Katharine Rodger, soprano, accompanied at the piano by her mother, Clara Aldrich Rodger. The entertainment was devoted to the songs and legends of the North American Red Man.

The program opened with a description and characterization of Indian music given most interestingly as well as informally by Mrs. Rodger, who told of the Red Man's traditions, history and understanding of truth always revealed in song and poetry.

In her beautiful and rich native costume, Miss Rodger seemed really more of an Indian maiden than a "Pale-face girl," and her grace of motion was as delightful to look at as was she herself. Then she possessed an unusually musical and rich soprano voice, so well trained that one could thoroughly enjoy her singing without even thinking of "the technique" of her performance. Steeped in Indian lore and music, Miss Rodger's interpretation of the songs she sang and the legends she told was ideal. She sang first some original melodies from the Omahas and the Dakotas that carried her hearers into the forest lands.

Aside from the original melodies that she sang, Miss Rodger presented the rare interpretations of Indian music as arranged by Carlos Troyer, Thurlow Llewellyn who lived almost a life-time with the Indians, coaxing their deepest and most beautiful songs from them, and by Charles Cadman, who seemed to find a slightly different cadencing from the other two composers. In all of the accompanied songs the soloist was admirably accompanied and supported at the piano by her mother.

Miss Rodger had an interesting word of explanation to give before practically all of the songs she sang, adding greatly to the charm of the program, which included The Sunrise Call of the Zuni by Troyer; Hymn to the Sun by Llewellyn; Wium, a lullaby, by Llewellyn, and a Zuni Incantation by Troyer, followed by an invocation in the first part.

The songs of Part II were Faded Stars of Morning, My Silver Throated Fawn, Pakobie, The Rose, and Slets E A Wah by Llewellyn, Far Off I Hear a Lover's Flute and Her Shadow, a canoe song, by Cadman; From an Indian Village and Her Blanket, the Indian maiden's life story, by Llewellyn and finally the heart-aching song of the passing of the Red Man, The Moon Drops.

Brower Also in Favor of Wills

New York, May 6.—George E. Brower, member of the New York State Athletic Commission, today aligned himself on the side of Chairman James A. Farley by favoring Harry Wills as the foremost challenger for the heavyweight title and intimating that he would vote to install Wills as champion if Jack Dempsey did not soon meet the negro. William Muldoon, third member of the commission, is understood to be opposed to a Wills-Dempsey match.

Brower, at the same time, admitted that the board had no legal right to unfrock champions but declared that public sentiment would make such action popular in the case of Dempsey.

"If Jack Dempsey has a lot of sportsmanship, he will meet Wills," Brower said. "That is my personal view of the matter. However, when the actual legality of deposing a champion is concerned, there is no real drastic action we can take, except to nominate a new champion and let the honor go for what it may be worth. It may be worth more than many people believe. Commission-made champions in the feather and lightweight divisions are pretty generally honored."

"If we recognize Harry Wills as champion, it will take something away from Dempsey's title until such time as he might be able to defeat the Negro in the ring."

Racing At Churchill Downs. Lexington, Ky., May 6.—Racing in Kentucky prepared today to shift to Churchill Downs, Louisville, with the opening of the spring meeting Saturday. At this track will be run the fifty-third renewal of the Kentucky Derby on May 15.

Lexington's meeting closed yesterday with the running of the Blue Grass Stakes or Derby trial in which Bubbling Over and Boot to Boot, Derby candidates owned by E. R. Bradley ran one-two.

Low, by Cadman. Miss Rodger was good enough to sing also several encore numbers.

An added feature of the performance was the arrangement of beautiful Indian blankets of various sizes, each one having an individual design, as the Indian maiden weaves into her blanket her own particular life story, forming a fitting stage setting for the charming singer.

Card of Thanks.

I desire in this manner to express my most sincere and heartfelt thanks to all my friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted me during the illness and death of my wife. I also wish to thank all who sent the beautiful floral tributes. JEREMIAH AVERY.

Supervisors In Special Session

He wished to know on what basis apportionment had been arrived at and did not approve of a hop, skip and jump method.

Supervisors Davis and Thomas both objected to cutting off $2,000 each from Denning and Hardenbergh. Small towns had helped pay their share and should be given aid as the entire county should get the benefit. Saugerties had been favored greatly.

The amendment was lost by a vote of 17 yeas, 14 nays. The Thomas resolution was then adopted, 17 yeas, 16 nays.

For County Road Purposes.

Supervisor Thomas offered a resolution that under Section 320a of the highway law, $55,440 state highway money, $56,440 county highway money, $14,808.17 funds in hand be distributed as follows among towns of the county for county road purposes:

New Paltz	$7,688.17
Olive	12,000.00
Plattekill	12,000.00
Rochester	10,000.00
Rosendale	10,000.00
Saugerties	12,000.00
Shandaken	12,000.00
Shawangunk	12,000.00
Ulster	12,000.00
Wawarsing	12,000.00
Woodstock	12,000.00

Supervisor Shults offered an amendment that the apportionment be as follows:

New Paltz	$10,658.17
Olive	12,000.00
Plattekill	12,000.00
Rochester	10,000.00
Rosendale	10,000.00
Saugerties	12,000.00
Shandaken	12,000.00
Shawangunk	12,000.00
Ulster	10,000.00
Wawarsing	14,000.00
Woodstock	12,000.00

The Shults amendment was lost, 17 yeas to 16 nays, and the original resolution of Supervisor Thomas adopted, yeas 17, nays 16.

Supervisor Shaw moved that the appropriation for improving Road 18 be changed to apply to Road 18a. Carried, Chairman Scott voting for the change.

Keeping Accounts Correctly.

Mr. Perry, who is checking up the highway accounts of the towns for the state comptroller, told of his work in checking up the accounts of the supervisors. He found 99 per cent of the supervisors were honest and explained how they failed through ignorance to keep their highway accounts as the law says. Bolts and shovels must not be paid for out of highway funds. Officials have the right to lease rollers, tractors, stone crushers and machinery but not from themselves or their wives. They are liable to taxpayer's action and to be compelled to pay for them out of their own pockets. Pay rolls must be signed by those receiving pay or warrants—not all in one handwriting which

ALL THIS WEEK

THE GIRL OF 1926

With 20,000,000 people following the breath-taking story of her life in more than 100 leading newspapers, "Sandy" in motion pictures should be the greatest box-office attraction of the current season. It's a drama of today; tingling with romance, thrilling with adventure, pulsating with heart throbs, yet bubbling with joy. It's as vital as life itself and as up-to-date as this afternoon's newspaper.

SATURDAY BANK ELECTION BRIDGE CITY MAN CAMBER.

Consents for Service It is decided whether loans are made or not under the terms of the loan of Lord Holland, who was accompanied with William Lloyd. It was his usual custom to go into his study of books with a small amount. He had a gallery erected for the purpose, and he maintained the same through their hours and improved their temper.—London Standard.

The First National Bank of Saugerties has elected Floyd B. Garrison of Poughkeepsie as cashier, and he will assume his duties about June 1. He is a native of Ulster county and has been connected with the Home National Bank at Ellenville and also the Arlington Bank in Poughkeepsie.
